OMAN, not the child of pseudo-sage
Or tainted tones. Unfettered of her age,
Resplendent mirror of transcendant Life.

Woman, raised to starred heights in light
To give of light, itself unclouded. Wisp
Of whiteness bound for heaven, circling in
Its wake the child of innocence, the man
Of strength. Scintilla soaring, piercing flecks
Of ebon thought, restoring rays to night.

Woman, heralding unearthly dawn;
Magnetic mother in a galaxy
Of family life reborn upon a Cross.

RIBUTE

Unto His Eminence, the Shepherd of
Our diocese, we utter eulogy,
Words wanting in expression of the love
He penned and preached and prayed that men respect
Their membership in Christ: To him we look
As leader; following his fervid faith
We grasp our place within a woman's role
Of living love and loving life in Light.

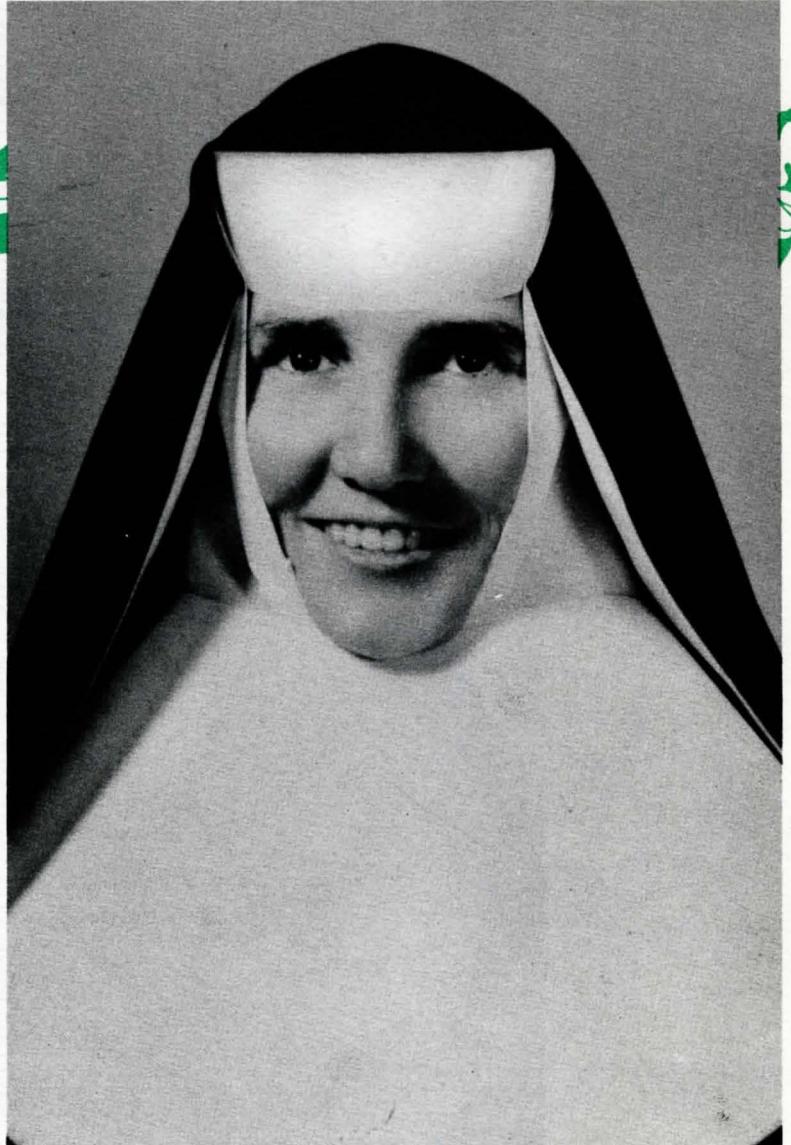

EDICATION

To Mother Dorothea we inscribe
This book that every page may introduce
Our patterned place within the plan of God.
As our first woman President, whose faith
Is firmly coupled with a cheerfulness
And understanding, she has ever shown
Us how to lead and live the qualities
Of femininity which foster life.

MOTHER M. DOROTHEA DUNKERLEY, O.S.U.

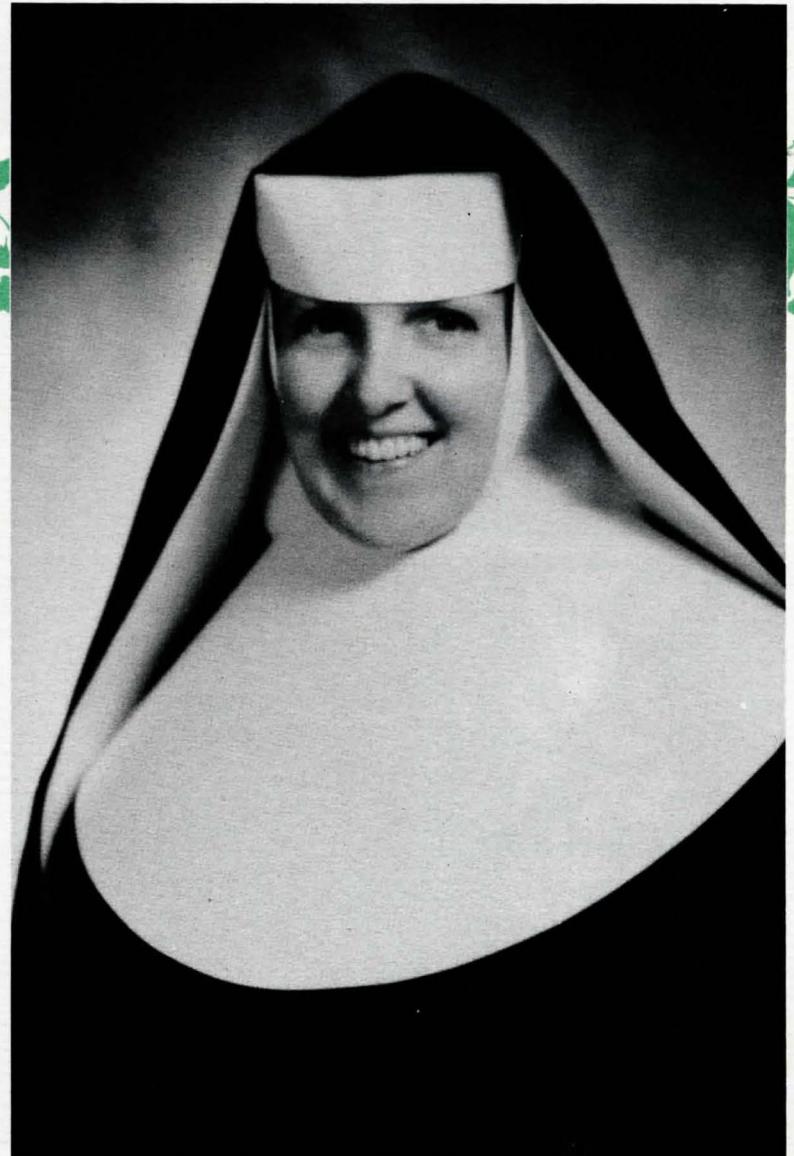

MOTHER MARY PETER CARTHY, O.S.U.

ECOGNITION

Sincere acknowledgment is due our Dean,
Mother Mary Peter, genuine
Exemplar of a grace and dignity
Whose deepening tones do temper each advance
Toward total womanhood. Hers is a zeal
For fashioning our intellects to truth,
An ardor rising from a reasoning mind
As it aspires to quiesce in God.

MOTHER M. ST. GEORGE DAVISON, O.S.U.

APPRECIATION

In noble notes expressing the esteem
We hold, the honor we confer upon
Our class advisor, Mother M. Saint George,
We sound a symphony of succor strong
That knew and noted every need of ours;
That worked and prayed with us, and praying, stayed
With us throughout four fruitful years, years blessed
In bond with her consummate charity.

N MEMORIAM

In ever-mounting strides we seek the stars,
Recalling Mother Andrew who here knew
And loved the light of great integrity
And ardent trust, dissolving worldly dusk
With dauntless sublimation to the will
Of God; who, leaving us, does now enjoy
The brilliance of the Blessed Trinity.

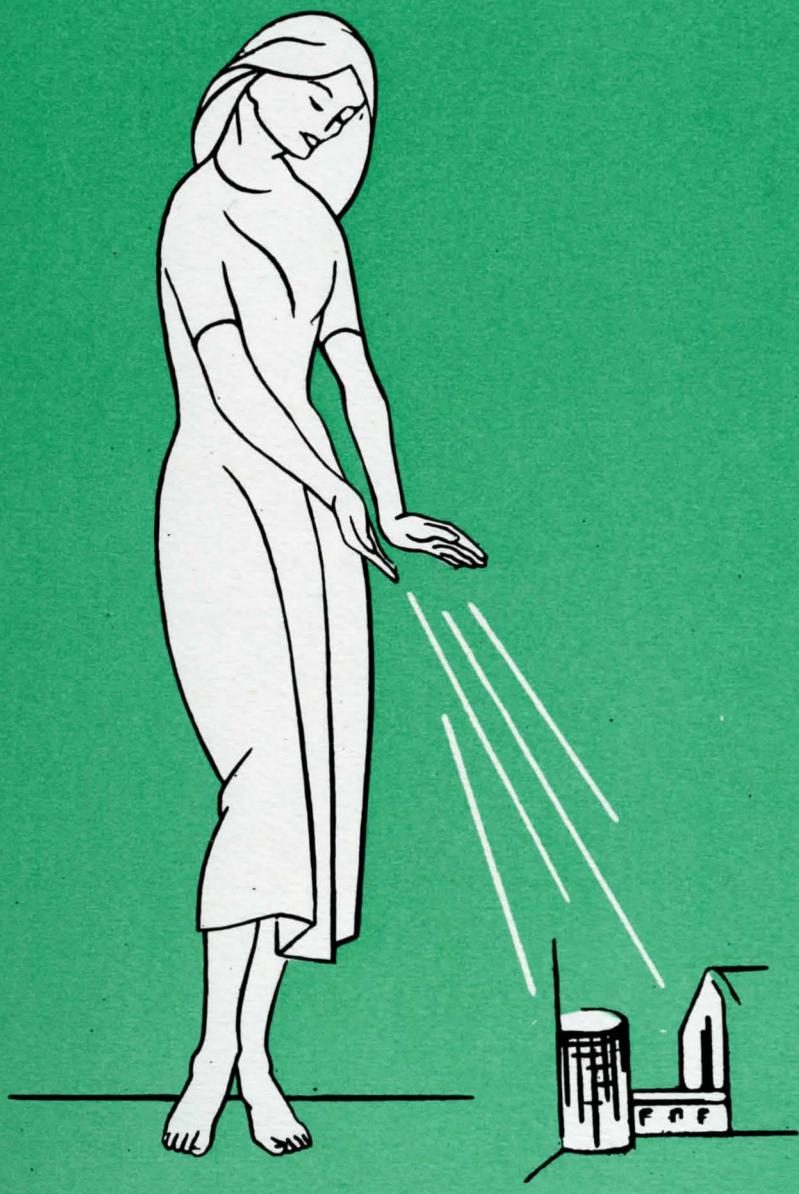

A FIRMAMENT
WROUGHT IN STONE

OMAN, dawn of life made Godlike by
A water's birth; new Beatrice to cast
Her brilliant beams through spheres of Paradise.

Woman, hyalin harbinger
Whose light reveals celestial symmetry.
Empyrean abodes, each stone, each arched
Facade alive in elegance, in love
Encompassed 'neath a chapel cross; designed Perfection, palace of supernal space.

Woman, radiating unity;
Reflecting azure artistry and grace
In edifices family-formed to Christ.

COMMUNITY IN CHRIST

POLLO-LIKE professorate be praised!
Through whom God-given faith is now enriched,
Dispelling dark with resurrected Light.

Diana, woman grown, recalls how oft
Preceptor Phoebus kindled shimmering sparks
Of freedom, love and law, of justice, truth
And holiness in e'er ascending orbs
Toward heaven; wedding every glint unto
Her Christo-glow to permeate the night.

Like mystagogues of old, marked models of Community in Christ, from whence the light
Of Luna is diffused to divers realms.

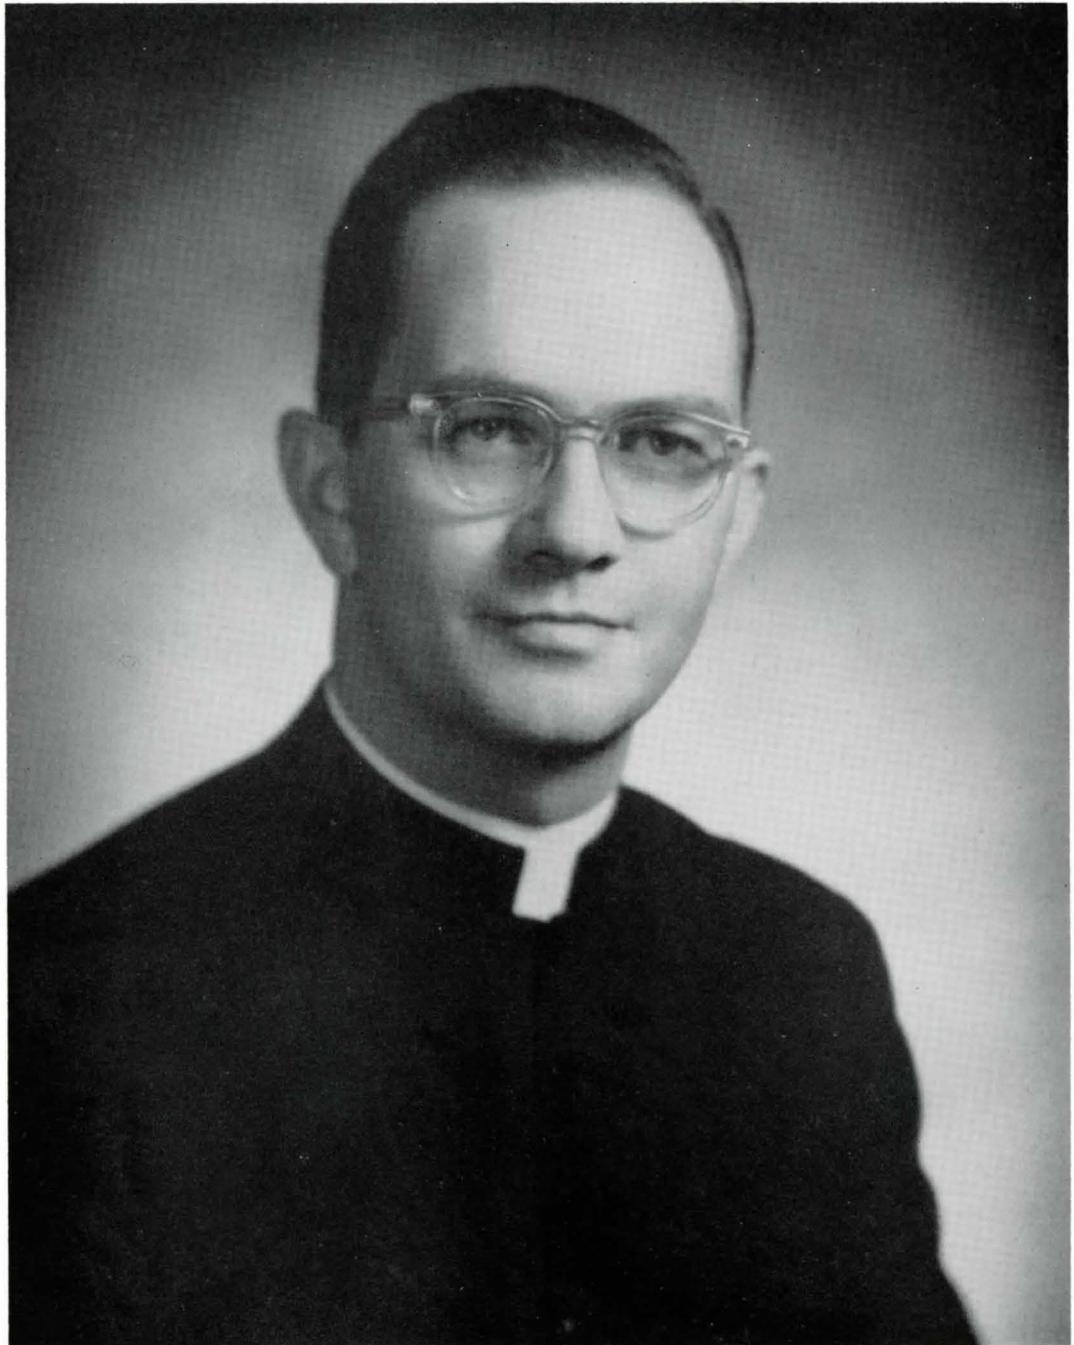

FACULTY PROCESSION

Because no college community is composed merely of those who are to learn, the learned ones must assume their rightful position in all academic functions, and so the faculty assembles for a procession.

REVEREND JOHN J. QUINN, A.B.
Chaplain, Instructor in Religion

As Chaplain and teacher, Father Quinn injects into our lives a supreme meaning—the meaning of rebirth and life in Christ.

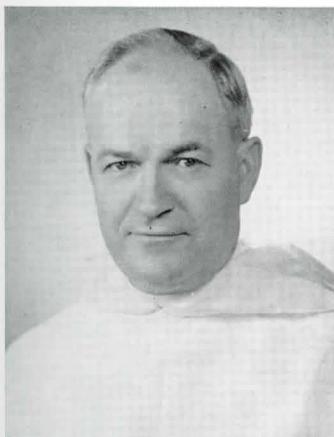

REVEREND THOMAS J. DARBY, PH.D.
Lecturer in Religion

As teacher and labor-school director, Father Darby exemplifies the fusion of faith with the workings of an active lay apostolate.

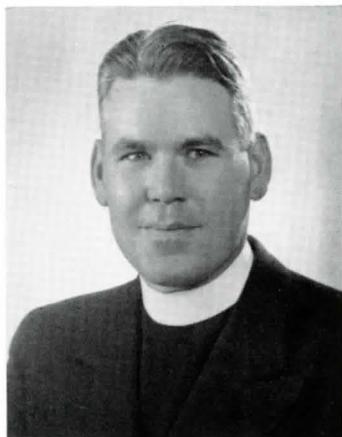

REVEREND THOMAS F. MAHER, PH.D.
Assistant Professor of Political Science

Combining faith and reason, Father Maher constantly sets before us our true roles as citizens of this world and the next.

REVEREND PETER V. MANNING,
O.P., S.T.Lr.
Professor of Religion

Assisting us in reasoning to the truth of our religion, Father Manning combines the intelligence of a teacher, the piety of a priest, the understanding of a friend.

REVEREND THOMAS MORIARITY, A.M.
Lecturer in Religion

Father Moriarity relives with us God's word in the Gospel, and renders the commemoration of His Son's sacrifice an integral part in our lives.

THE WOMEN,
LIGHT DISPERSED

OMAN, light of love which penetrates
A prisma'd age, dispersing spectrum streams
Of golden, crimson, violet, and green.

Woman, radiance bestowing beams
Of aureate announcing kinship with
The Living Rock on whom a family life
Was founded. Gilded-glow unveiling to
The earth a God of revelation, and Intelligence to know His universe.

Woman, messenger of Lamb-light whose Unceasing gleams of gold give meaning to
The rays of red and violet and green.

The concentration of power in the hands of the first executive precludes a complete acceptance and appreciation of Student Government under the dominion of a higher and a Divine authority.

The external ceremony of a procession in honor of the Immaculate Conception indicates a wellspring of deep love and faith in Mary.

INTEGRATED devotion to Christ as Incarnated, as Second Person of the Blessed Trinity, through the Sacred Heart and through His Blessed Mother, pervades extra-curricular life.

Teaching the wonder of little ones the dawning knowledge of Christ is the scope of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine.

As He commanded, devotion to the Sacred Heart is spread further through the League, and each day offered to Him will grow to be: "We offer Thee . . . our lives."

The Nativity scene, focal point of human history, is reverenced and reenacted in pageant form each Christmas in an humble awe and love.

The loveliness of the formal crowning of World Mission Queen on her day brings home the widespread magnanimity of devotion to Mary and the missions.

As in an informal setting charity becomes an habitual and accepted virtue, so the Lounge provides the loving atmosphere for knitting and sewing for Mission Club.

WE WHO hold so preciously our membership in the Mystical Body, find greatest happiness in giving of our opportunity in the various forms of Mission activity.

Under the Ursuline Students Relief Abroad the mails carry not only materials like food and clothing, but a spirit of sympathy and generosity to the less fortunate.

The vocation of the Young Christian Student is a practical Christianity, strong and sure of its quietly glorious activity.

The simplicity and ascendancy of the liturgy is a conscious habit with Choir members who have learned the joy of prayer song.

GLORY to God is given through the dedication of our actions to a practical application of the Gospels, and through the sung beauty of the liturgy.

SPOUSED to glistening gold, the crimson tints
In tapers form, revealing woman as
She breathes with human glow upon the life
Of reason. Turning to the past, she grasps
Man's mind and heart, preserving lucent lines
Which shine upon community of love.

JOAN BACKMAN

French

Intrigued by that irresistible laughter, and trusting, childlike sense of wonder, we are sometimes amazed to turn the corners of Becky's personality and find a very logical mind in a completely feminine setting, sensitivity to beauty, a completely selfless willingness, a firm faith which holds no room for complaint, only for love.

JULIANNE BENNETT

English

Just as spring waters have an urgent force beneath, so in Julie, a joyousness pulses in fidelity to her loves and talents. Faithfulness flows from the heart of her being. Hearts have been made blithe by her effervescence, a world of wonder opened by her depth, and Julie has refreshed us by being Julie.

KATHARINE ANN BOHMERT

English

Kathie, our own mistress of Saturday Socials, gives us a combination of loveliness and sparkle which leaves us breathless. With equal versatility, she moves from tennis to Tennyson showing throughout, in quiet reserve, her ability to apply clear reason to reality, in all respects.

EUGENIE MARIE BRUNINGS

Art

Our deep need for beauty and our fascination for fancy draw us to Jeanie. We marvel that within so spontaneous and impulsive a creature the truth of line and shading, the wellspring of light and shadow have found a beginning. But we know that the inspiration of art is an overflow of the spirit of the artist.

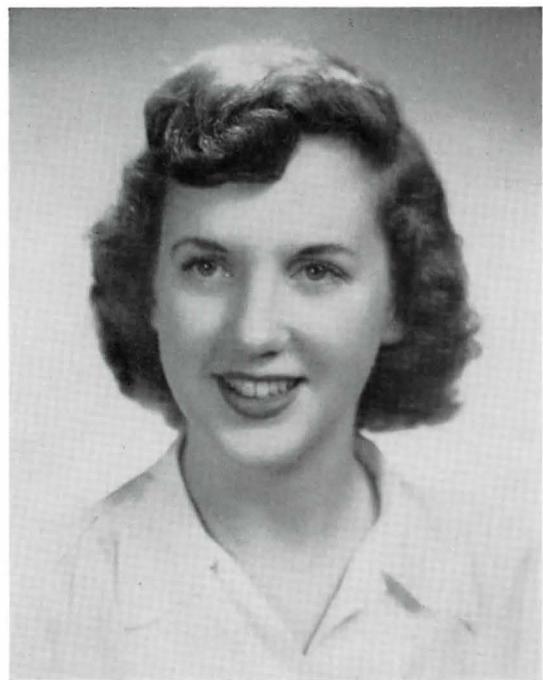

ANN MARIE BURTON

Art Major

Happy-go-lucky Ann Marie looks laughingly at life and sings out at what she sees. It's a bright world for this gay miss whose talents and charm add a sparkle to the lives of those around her. Giving love she danced into our hearts and sharing love she remains.

LILLIAN CAPRICE

English

With a poise that never fails, even in the most awkward situations, and a sincere interest in both the big and little people, Lil is a lady to her fingertips, a lady from her heart. Consideration for others is the motor of her driving personality and no one who knows her can fail to be caught in its sweep.

MARCELLA GOMEZ CASSERES

Spanish

Marcella, whose eyes mirror a deep understanding and love, is devoted to beauty in all its diverse forms. This love cannot fail to include the beauty of gaiety, loyalty, truthfulness, sympathy. Most of all, we will recall Marcella for the great gift of giving glory to others, keeping only humility for herself.

HILDA MARIA CASTELLON

French

Hildy of the vivacious manner bubbles over with mirth and merriment. To the tap of dancing feet, she prances through life. The loyal friendliness of the happy miss was more than welcomed back after her French tour, and she was soon busily at work again, heightening atmospheres, clearing away unwelcome moods, diffusing happiness.

MARCELLA A. CHODACZEK

English

All the fun, sentiment and delight of college days are a part of Marcy. She is the person most ready to laugh or to sigh wistfully. Hers is the joy of the shared secret, of the giving end of amusement. The winsome sentimental of many a situation, Marcy's charm will be one of our gayer memories.

LUCILLE URSULA CIOFFI

English

The skip to our Lou is her unconquerable joy. Capriciously and constantly it flits through skits, parties, fun; sweetly and serenely it sings of the Christian works of Sodality, Blauvelt, all charity. Lovably it nestles in our memories where, at every happy word, it cannot help but recall Lou.

MAUREEN PHYLLIS COOPER

Speech—English

The most soft-spoken of girls, Maureen has a gentle charm, ideal for stimulating small groups. Desdemona-like in appearance and demeanor, she is not unlike the heroine in fanciful, romantic inclinations. This, allied with her subtle humor, constitute Maureen's personal appeal.

CECILE DAOUST

French

"Teak" is our talented and loving made-moiselle recently returned from Parisian things. With the sincere air of the true cosmopolitan, she weaves a pattern of music and gaiety along myriad paths. Unassuming but decisive, "Teak" possesses the insight and sensitivity of the artist, for with warm understanding and childlike interest, she appreciates the fine things of life.

JANE ANNE DASEY

English

She bargains with each day, taking from it fascinating expanses of knowledge, as that of infinite literary periods, reciprocating with the wisdom gained through innate senses of integrity and high humor. Poetic antics and the arty are a part of Jane, but we will remember most the true compassion and the thrill of sharing.

SUSAN THERESE DENNEN

English

First it was the laugh and the happy heritage which formed it; a healthy force of opinion and sense of trueness followed, and we loved her more. Complete knowledge introduced a kindred spirit, fascinated by purple patches of poetry, breathing nothing but the most vigorous of Christian air, and we knew Susan as one of the dearest.

JOAN MARY DIDIER

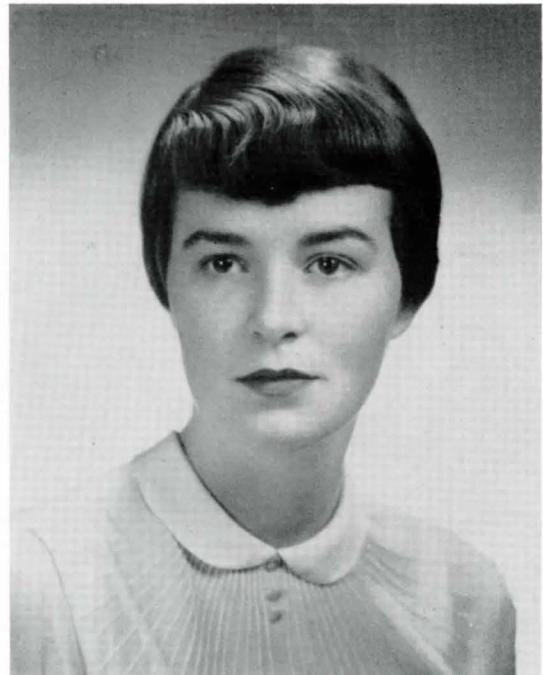

English

Joan integrates her sense of justice and consideration for others into everything she undertakes, be it penned notes on roguery and rococo characters or faithfully accomplishing an assigned duty. Although Joan, in her shyness, has a tendency to underestimate her capabilities, we fully realize and more than appreciate them.

HELEN DOHERTY

Spanish

The intricate stories Helen tells point us the turns down the winding, whimsical ways of her mind. It is here that the fascinating elements are niched: fun, understanding, inventiveness, poise, which fuse to form a sympathetic personality, elements of contradiction, such as a smooth pertness, which diffuse to become extreme individuality.

DOLORES RITA DONATELLI

Art

Rarely can be found a smart sophistication suddenly and completely disrupted by a puckish grin, in a poised artiste of delicately fine sensibilities. It happened to us with Dee, the free spirit with the candid tongue and knowing way, the tiny singer of the song of richness, generosity and sympathy.

ANN HELEN DOWD

Speech—English

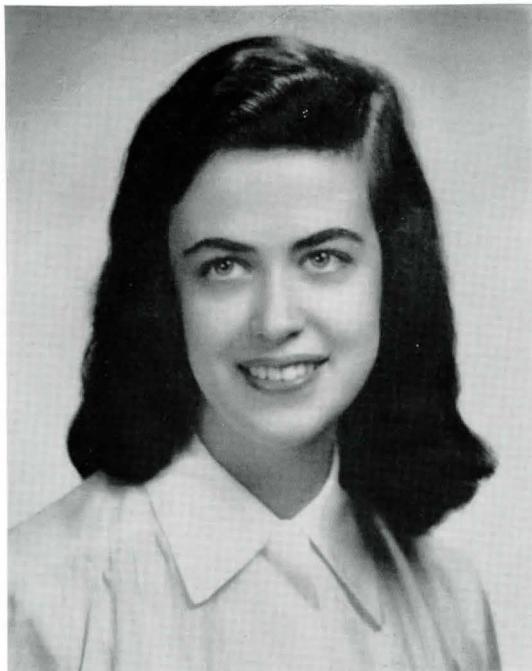

Those in difficulties have best known our faithful lover of the worthiest but most forgotten causes. The invariable nap which prefaces any of Ann's excursions into works or plays has never failed to produce a familiar sparkle of fun, of sympathy, of love, which has made Props, SAC, and their president something unforgettable.

DOLORES KATHLEEN DUFFY

English

A straightforward expression reflecting a refreshingly guileless heart is the ingenuous charm of Do. Wide-eyed search for reason has shimmered through to the less logical, while her integrity and insight have provided her with a treasure horde of love and trust. Vulnerable and sincere, Do is a rarity, a gem of our own.

CECELIA TERESA DUNN

English

Disarming us with her whimsical imagination, Celia can startle us with her resoluteness where a principle is concerned. An easy-going manner, a love for the romantic, a certain innate practicality which finds exit whenever selflessness or love beckon: these are the glorious tints and shades of a dreamer.

EDITH E. ERNST

Art

Edie's big open heart pours out affection to all and takes happily any affection given. Unrestrained happiness complements her natural generosity, as a fascinating skill accompanies any contest of her mind, hands or heart. Her outstanding gifts of laughter and loyalty will remain with us, but above all, we will remember Edie as a phenomenal friend.

VIVIAN ANNE FERRACCI

Speech—English

The glow of the golden girl is so much one of superlative humor, vitally charming graciousness, that classes, Props, debating and activities at large have been attacked with vengeance and been conquered. We have all felt the dynamic touch of her petite maturity; more so, we too, have glowed through the warmth of her sincere affection.

MAUREEN ELISABETH FINNEGAN
English

CNR's representative of that fabled race, the New Hampshire colleens is our own Maureen. It is known that these magical people are as close to the clouds as rhyming things, as down to earth as basic loyalty. Trouble is forbidden them by a sympathetic gaiety. Love is commanded them by wings of happiness in their hearts.

JOAN HAYES FLEMING
Art

From the deep font of confident optimism, and through the days of Joan, flow the two strong currents: calmness that comes with trust, and exuberance that comes with peace. Buoyantly, mirth frolics on the surface with a capricious spontaneity, while beneath, as in her art, burns the simplicity of hope.

GLORIA TERESA GRECO

English

From a deep reservoir of faith come the streams of energy which Gloria has put to work for CNR, and especially for Tatler. Whether engaging in tomfoolery or, more often, as organizer extraordinaire, hers has been a message written with the clear, bold strokes of courage and sincerity.

BARBARA JANE HADLOCK

Art

Our citizen of the world of patterns and cheer is infinitely at home with all kind cleverness. There is no skill which is not hers to command. The reason is that the art and conversation pieces are products of a generously talented mind; the socks and loyalties are knitted with a generously loving heart.

BARBARA HANSON

Speech—English

Brilliance is a casual thing to the actress, the singer, ever poised on the edge of a song, looking for laughter. But the light of love within is a watchful wonder. And so, underlying the flashing tempo of the tragic or comic mood, burns the steady sweetness of loyalty, the harmony of whole-hearted interest, the fascination of Barb.

MARGARET JOAN HUGGER

English

Not piety in a narrow sense, but Christianity in its thrilling humanistic meaning is embodied in this girl who is a woman. Fidelity to her student vocation, a sense of wonder at the beauty of the arts, compose Peggy, a loving instigator of the lighter moments, because of happy glory in Christ, her King.

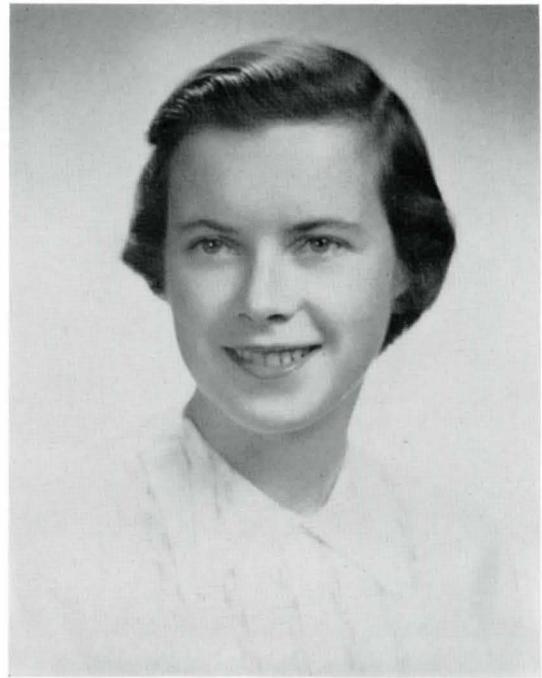

JOAN JARRETT

English

We have felt Joan's tender energy in her sincere love of the little things, the full sweep of her large heart in the big ones. Her humor, her sympathy, have made us love to give as she has, of a sunny disposition which, as bread cast upon the waters, came back cake!

MARY LEE JONES

English

This is not a sylvan creature despite the floating steps and flutelike voice, but rather a loving and lovable girl with a wealth of happiness behind the constant singing and dancing. Childlike naivete commands a cultural knowledge with an ease only she could manage. A soft, strong white cloud of innocence shelters her, and protects the depth of her sincerity.

CECILIA ANN KEENAN

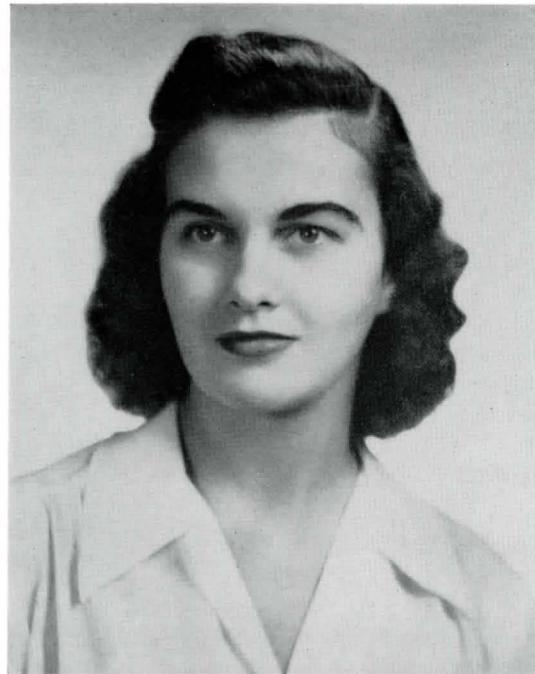

English

Of Cele, constant mixer of conscientiousness and humor, we will remember shared laughter, continual effort to understand. The color and precision of her appearance and anecdotes are outbalanced only by a quietly real sincerity, and a repeated willingness to help. For these things Cele will remain vivid to us; for these we have loved her.

BETTY ANN KELLY

Speech—English

We have known Bet's bright laughter over a lively wit, graceful gestures toward the make-believe world of Chidwick stage, ambitious fingers flying with untiring selflessness, prayerful simplicity, reflections of a love for the genuine, the good, the beautiful. We have loved above all this, the quiet dignity of a child of Mary.

BARBARA BENT KENNA

Speech—English

Remembered for the generosity of her bubbly personality, Bobby's trademark, her shiny laughter, will always remain a symbol to hold against darker things. Color, concern, child-like patience take their turn in an unpredictable manner, as the kaleidoscopic charm reaches out to delight and as the sincerity, Bobby's own special virtue, makes everything better than before.

MARLYN MARIE KILGANNON

English

Perhaps you will remember Marlyn as the student. But behind this is the constant effort of the poet to keep her feet on the ground. The ready blush and the tearful laughter are traits of our Poetry Club president, which when combined with the discipline of our fourragere winner, give us the steady sweetness of Marlyn.

ANN CATHERINE KOENIG

Art

Strong and sure, pretty and graceful: this is Ann's work; this is Ann. A laugh as distinctive as her drawings, and an even constant sparkle of good humor and helpfulness: for these things we have loved her, but even more for the sure beauty she has brought to us, the beauty she gives to all, to her work and to her life.

CATHERINE M. LANGELLOTTI

Spanish

Veteran of the campaign of long distance day-hopping, Cathy carries her cosmopolitan spirit with her. Linguist extraordinary, she is a veritable encyclopedia of information on things Hispanic, and enthusiastically imbues her friends with a similar love. Of indefatigable energy, and colorful imagination, Cathy, in her gentle way, has infected us all with her zest for living.

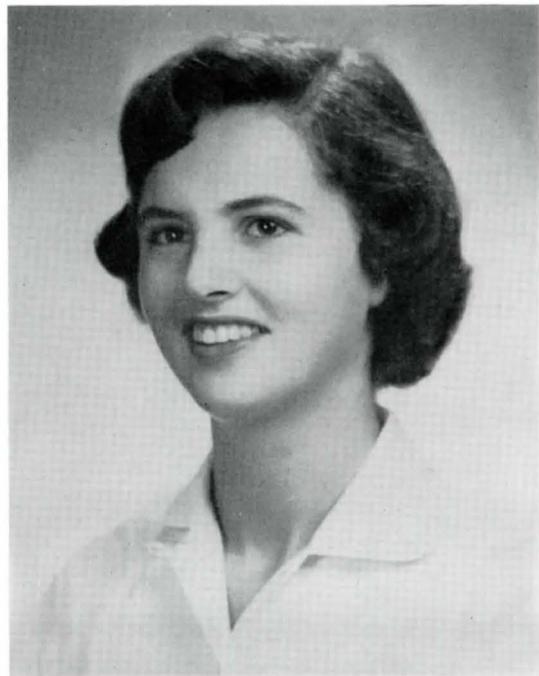

DOLORES E. LAURITANO

French

Here is gaiety's mistress of ceremonies! The song and laughter of '52 flow around our fun-loving Laurie. We will remember her entertaining stories and her consuming affection for the endless throng of her friends, but just as lights create shadows, so does Laurie create depth as well as joy through song.

KATHLEEN M. LEWIS

English

Il Pensero, in our case, is a laughing and silent, whistling, adventuresome humanist, whose habits of contemplation lose none of their intensity through the blithe gladness of the thinker. This is Kay, the unique lover of around the corner bookstores, the donor of happiness, the child of love and serenity.

JOAN HELEN LUBER

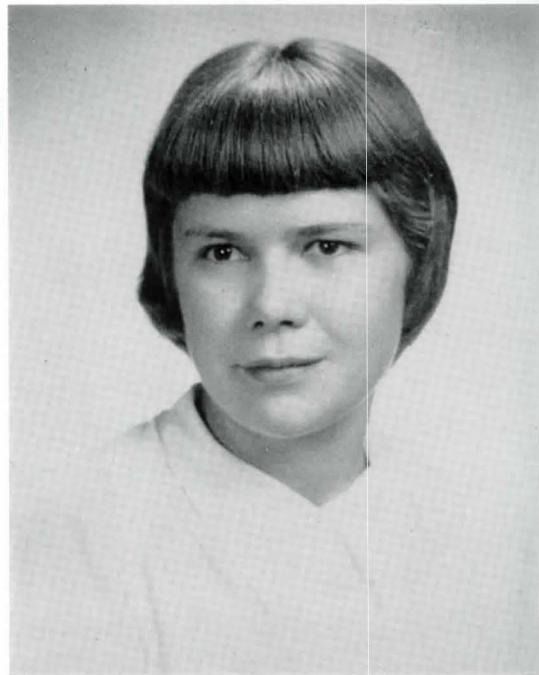

French

Her true friendship can be equated with profound loyalty. Quiet and retiring, her successes seldom voiced, Joan constantly seeks to go higher. Always fond of learning and school, profiting by all she is taught, she has stored her knowledge so that future needs can be quickly filled.

JOHANNA MARY McCARTHY

English

The happy side of anything at all is the particular love of our light-hearted miss, for her constant effervescence makes every situation her own, and the charity of her actions speaks loudly enough for all to hear. And so we have followed the goodness and shiny merriness of our happy little woman, Jo.

JOAN MARIE McFARLAND

English

Appreciative as her audiences, Joan's sincerity is no Chidwick role, but an outgrowth of a naturally generous heart. This selflessness, highlighted by a pronounced touch of the dramatic and of the cosmopolitan, will enable Joan, in the true humanistic sense of the word, to reach out her wealth of truth to those less gifted.

MADELEINE THERESE MARTYN

English

Fact and fantasy excitingly meet in Madeleine, where her charm fuses the sweetest of compassionate delicacy with all the abandon of poetry. Here, laughing and sighing are accompanied only by the piper's tune, set suddenly in motion by the fancy of the temperamental. Here is true responsibility, the very fascinating knowledge of love.

MARYLOU MEYER

Art

Among the paints and brushes of art and highlighted by a je ne sais quoi femininity, is found a softly painted character in the most gentle of tones. Marylou's graciousness and cheery glow of true Christian joy are subtly outlined with a particular sort of humor, and colored ultimately by the elusive virtue called charity.

MARY LOUISE MINETTI

French

Mary Lou, of Alpha Alpha and French Club, has a gift which lies in humorously overcoming the current monstrous problem to the extent that only laughter in clarity remains. The very ready sense of humor is channeled toward charm through willingness to do anything for a friend, and her individual expressions hint at a heart ready for giving.

JOAN ELAINE MULLIGAN

English

With a mind encompassing a vast store of wordly knowledge, Joan tempers it carefully with a staunch faith. Her assurance and sense of the ridiculous keeps her unmoved in the face of trivia. With cooperation concerning work or fun, she has pleasantly taught us the spirit of generosity and gladness.

MARY FRANCES MULLIGAN

English

Completely delighted with the human comedy, Mary Fran injects into it spurts of her own energetic charity. This modern miss emits intense interest and a wealth of opinions on anything at all from complex poetic interpretation to comments on society. Kindness with a flair, a poised vividness complete this portrait of a dynamic lady.

ROSE MARIE MURRAY

Speech—English

Quietly dignified Rose Marie enjoys ultimately contributing her wonderful optimism and charming naturalness to the happiness of the crowd. We could hardly forget the smile, or its specialty of overlooking the black clouds, and concentrating on the sunnier things. People fascinate Rose Marie; people love her and what they discover immediately: the elusive qualities of a lady.

ROSEMARY O'CONNELL

Speech—English

The creative mind, helping hand, romantic turn of heart are so intricately blended that mention of one instantly suggests the others, and brings sincerity, loving encouragement, and all that follows in its wake. Enhancing these elements and bringing to responsibility a sense, a realization, a love of duty is the special province of our very Irish miss, Rosemary.

KATHERINE M. O'LEARY

Art

Kay guards an inner joy and enthusiasm, expressed in serene countenance and yet it escapes her. Her soft-spoken thoughts are delightful, her family tales a reward to eager listeners. She traces beauty midst familiar things with watchful eyes. These are the attributes of true artistry.

JOAN THERESE O'NEILL

English

Because it is natural to be drawn from clashing moods toward a quiet serenity, we have loved Joan. The ladylike niceness of her bearing, and the smile that speaks instantly of sympathy and a gentle humor have charmed, as has the trueness of the Sodalist, the integrity of the most loyal friend.

CATHERINE VERONICA O'ROURKE

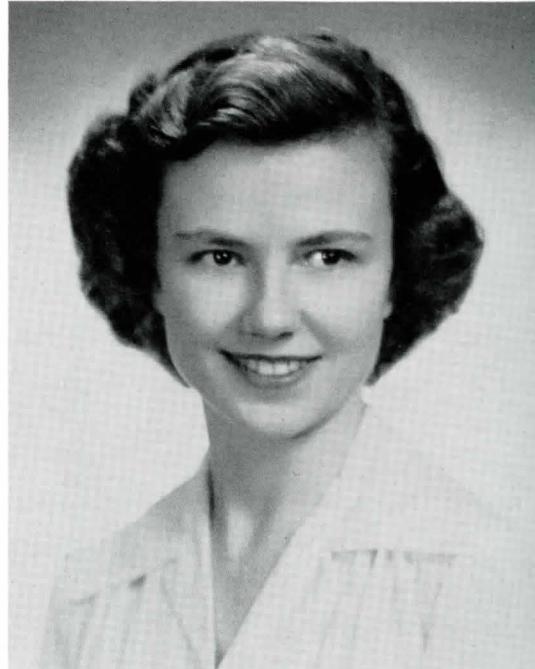

English

Kay is immediately loved for her engulfing enthusiasm, her genius for creating laughter, often at her own expense, with and without footlights. A deeper knowledge reveals the all-inclusive quality of intensity for everything that means CNR. Solicitous of little things, Kay's inexhaustible supply of generosity overflows campus limits into the boundless fields of the Missions.

BARBARA ANNE OVERBERGER

French

A favorably small size, wit and wisdom create definite impressions upon acquaintances, but the lively eyes and bubbling enthusiasm are best known to her friends. A faithful Glee Club singer, with a three year appearance on the Dean's list, enthroned as president of Le Cercle Jeanne d'Arc, Mademoiselle Barbara commands a pleasantly secure position overlooking the future.

FRANCES ANN PALISI

French

Fran's activity is a criterion, learning a pride, conscientiousness a byword. As an extra-curricular force in Le Cercle Jeanne d'Arc, Italian and Glee Clubs, she has donated her rounded and loved personality, efficiency and the height of sound common sense. Although a sweetly quiet person, Fran has influenced many by her sunny disposition and love of people.

MARY ELIZABETH QUINN

English

With a charity from which sincerity springs naturally and sweetly, Mary tiptoes into the majesty of life, deftly transcending the transcendents, singing along Maura second, or tactfully calming ruffled atmospheres. Through Tatler she has proven the potential warmth and life of even journalistic facts. She has always known love.

LOUISE THERESE RILEY

English

Our princess has shown a healthy dislike of ivory towers. She preferred rather to bring poetry down to the concrete level of Chidwick where she quietly revealed Roxane, Hattie, and several Trojan women, for your pleasure. Many have marvelled at the myriad artistic and intellectual abilities of the petite lady; more have been warmed for just knowing her.

MAUREEN ANITA RILEY

Speech—English

There is a fay-like quality in this generous lover of infinitesimal good deeds. Maureen has brought a subtle charm and womanly dignity to all plans and plots, whether caroling or manifesting shy optimism in whimsical pranks. Constancy and sense of order are a bit of the charm of Erin's staunchest ambassador, singer of lovely things.

MARY ELLEN ROCHE

Speech—English

We might begin by writing "enthusiastic day-hop," or "co-author of 'Hats off to Hattie,'" or "loyal Camp Pesquasawasis counsellor," but we would never really define the many faceted person who is Mel. Delighting us with her clowning, like a Pied Piper, she has led us to the precious discovery of herself.

TERESA MARIE RYBA

French

Terry is the extraordinary student, the aspiration of the casual collegian, for her work holds an excitement and thrill that most of us cannot fully appreciate. Terry's knowledge is never only speculative, for her genuine practicality is a source of comfort to friends, and her ardor for the French way, a source of radiance.

MARGARET E. SCHMIT

Art

Margie's life is the balance of a Catholic collegian and a modern miss. She has achieved sincerity and gayness, good will and selflessness. She has left us laughing at the wonderfully ridiculous things which "could only happen to Marge," and she has left us loving, because she happened to us.

MARGARET E. SCHOLZ

English

We waited until Peggy had doffed the magical madcap; we explored the unconscious poise of her; we penetrated the thought of a mind casually encyclopedic. And following the busy stream of buoyancy that flows to deep pools of understanding, we knew that at last we had found the Peg of our hearts.

MARGARET T. SEIFERT

Art

Our Hattie is a quaint and curiously modern miss, with head full of singing, heart full of sympathy, and an eye fixed firmly on eternal things. The gaiety of Margie is the overflowing, musical kind, which makes a harmony only with the sweetest tenderness and genuine concern for all those she enchants with soaring laughter and motherly love.

ALINE SGUEGLIA

French

We were two years without this particular spark, but Aline finally brought us her precious gift of laughter! Immediately '52 was immersed in heights of hilarity and depths of thoughtfulness which penetrate a life that is full. Compassionately, Aline has taken all to her heart. Gratefully, we have reciprocated.

MARIE JOAN SMITH

Speech—English

Through the iridescent heart of Joanie, we can thrill to gleams and glimmerings of love, wonder, delight and sympathy. Through it, we too can give way to sentiment, learn the fascination of the wistful ingenue, the technique of a speech with a "message," diffuse calm and furious excitement, learn to love to give.

MARY SALLY SOULTS

English

Through a maze of mundane perplexities and fantastic escapades, we catch a glimpse of the real Sally, the vivacious one, whose heart is as sincere as her habits are individualistic. Forever bustling about, busily knitting a mesh of details, Sally is as feminine as lace, as changing as motion.

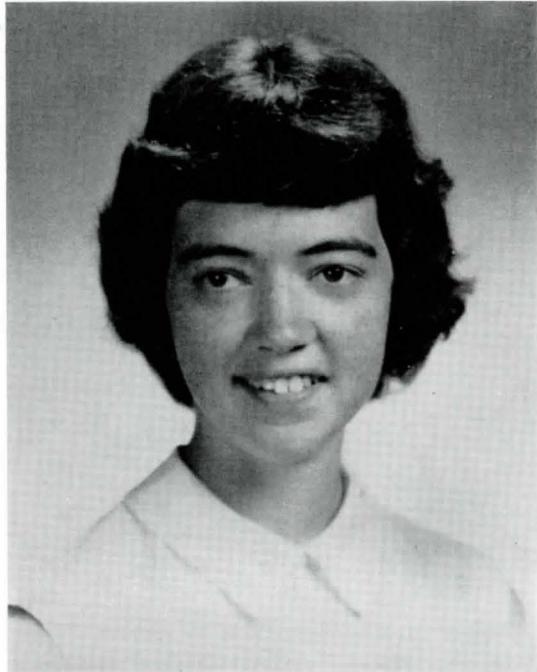

MARJORIE A. STUMPF

Speech—English

Speech major personified, Margie's outward reticence belies her dramatic flair and gift of mimicry. Ever the delight of her friends with her sidelights on the impossible, Margie is most esteemed for her loyalty, be it to cause or person, her sympathy, and her quiet understanding which is born of true appreciation for human personality.

NANCY MARIEA TECTOR

Art

Nancy's strong, quick fingers are instruments of self-expression, whether patiently working clay into her amusing little figures or whipping through the tempestuous melody of the "Fire Dance." When we look once, we see a black-eyed girl, chic and gay; we look again and find a heart capable of tremendous sacrifice and devotion.

ALICE TIMOTHY

Speech—English

Almost while we were unaware of it, Alice walked into our hearts, introducing her characteristic generosity and straightforwardness, as she brought us clear thoughts clothed in winged words. An unusual sense of responsibility, promptness and precision have made her dear to us and have helped balance our more temperamental artists.

JEAN EDITH TOBIN

English

To Jean, who finds the height of joy in giving, helping, loving, we give our willing allegiance. Because she has devoted her unfathomable generosity to observing the fine things, to heightening the humor, to sharing the atmosphere, we have identified her with the sweet refreshment that comes with poetic things, with responsibility, the savoir faire of true amusement.

PATRICIA ADALYN WALSH

English

With enthusiasm born of truth, in a manner warm and sunny as a bright day, Pat explores and loves the tiny corners of life. Yet the underneath Pat is inscribed in our hearts in a deepened tone, sensitive and reflective as that day's stirring shadows, poetic and religious interchangeably, constantly wondering and wonderful.

MARIANNE WATTS

English

A fervent champion of all her loves is Marianne. Never tepid, the ardent enthusiasm that is the very heart of our editor finds expression in her poetic style, a wise blending of imagery and reflection. This complex idealist ricochets shadows and shades as breathlessly as she catches rainbows.

ELLEN JANE WIGLE

German

Six girls in a jeep with Ellen at the wheel is one of campus's most familiar sights. Ellen can find the funny side of almost any "grave" situation, and her impersonations and stories are constant laugh script for her many friends. With a merry heart Ellen diffuses her zeal and vigor to all who know her.

The Poetry Club rejoices in its understanding of the province of tangible beauty, in its aim of improvement of Wasteland outlooks.

NOT only a classroom knowledge is transported through the communication of literary things, but a deeply poetic interpretation, a satisfaction of the thirst to know.

Through an amazing familiarity with the gamut from French modern art to the oldest of cultures, the discussions of Scribblers achieve an invaluable intellectual informality.

Culture and the spirit of the Parisian anniversary are diffused in a practical way as Le Cercle Jeanne d'Arc absorbs the very fascinating French idiom.

Il Circolo Dante, taking its name and tempo from the greatest of Italian writers, assimilates into modernity a culture as old and rich as time.

BECAUSE modernity refers to present time and not to self-sufficiency, because America grew of other lands, our depth and richness looks in appreciation to other times and other cultures.

The Atomic and Golden Ages strike an exotic harmony with more than a sprinkling of Pan Americana within the fervently culture-conscious Spanish Club.

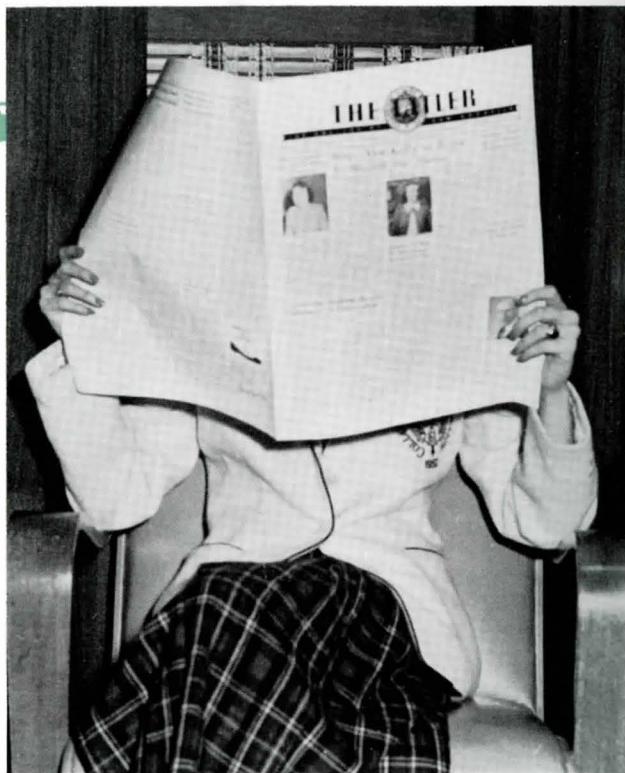

Friendly laurel and the traditionally social banquet bring the Classical Club closer than mere book knowledge to the Roman way.

Edelweiss, the flower of Germany, serves as a symbol for these girls of Der Edelweiss Kranz, who go beyond memorizing grammar, to absorb the culture of Deutschland.

The fulfillment of journalistic intensity lies in student appreciation of the newspaper, in the knowledge that standards have been held high and appreciated thusly.

THE worlds of fact and fancy, of time and timelessness, of reports and history meet, where only viewpoints differ, in the kingdom of truth and the written word.

For the determination behind our Tatler has matured into printed accuracy, as the constant galley work has produced a warm circulation through clever goodness.

The subtle art of literature is conceived in whirls of talents and ideas as Quarterly time nears fulfillment of the long production.

And the mystery of a creative thing accelerates in the fascination that the printed word is our own.

As the inner-workings are the actual pulse of the operation, so the sturdy Props behind the scenes give hard-work and dependability to external glory.

Props and Paint, with the best of Moliere and Rostand as its media, has made favorable alliance with only the highest and most dramatic forms of the dramatic art.

Knowledge for all to see is the pride of the library "fishbowl," acknowledging the openness and ability of the Speech-English majors within.

SPEAKING so that messages will be unfailingly absorbed, acting as a symbol of veritas, making the dramatic the real; this is the task of the spoken word.

Principles are broadcast with precision, with a constant consciousness of the all-important technique of operation, by the time and timely minded Radio Workshop.

As clay is molded into shapes corresponding to their own ideas of perfection, the talents of the art majors are forced gently into a familiarity with objective beauty.

ART and music in formal and informal settings pervade and soften all levels of class and extra-curricular activity.

Through exhibitions, slides, and talks on architecture, paintings, stage-craft and fashions, Daubers' members delve deeply into their chosen field.

Music with a lighter touch brings to Freshmen a new harmony, to upperclasses a deepening of true tone, to Maura, the sound of laughter.

Through the unchecked glory of a song, the tremulous moment of near perfection has been reached, sustained, and placed in a memory of many concerts, by each Glee Club singer.

As supplement to our classes and to our very living, the Assembly Board has introduced instruction, entertainment, and unification to the Student Body.

The most determined arguments electrify meetings of the Council of Debate, as Catholic principles combine with the art of oratory to settle such questions as wages and controls.

In Alpha Alpha the first and greatest of the philosophically bent Seniors may find new depths in St. Thomas, may explore modern problems of future saints.

SCHOLASTIC philosophy in speculative but always practical order is presented, absorbed and used by all who are obligated to the cause of good.

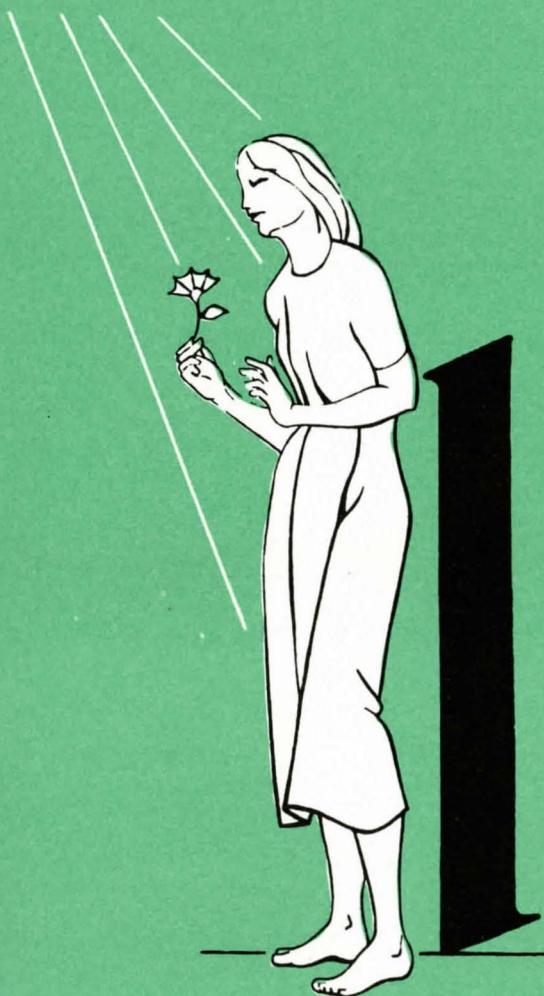

Alpha Nu Omicron, the honorary campus literary society, testifies to the transcendental integrity of the written word and the spirit behind.

Creative sparks, business details, meeting deadlines, and hard won advertising generate Annales, the climax of class projects, the preview of a Catholic woman's future.

ANNALES, 52, crowning culmination of youth's end, maturity's beginning, reflects not on isolated incidents of past time, but arranges joys and lessons into a pattern of woman's destiny.

N VIOLET effulgence woman works
Within the realms which bore this regal hue,
This shade of sorrow, hers to think that man
Sees nature merely through a microscope.
Combining gilt with purple gleams she gives
To God His place as Cause of all design.

MARGARET MARY CARMODY

Mathematics

Sincerity and complete awareness keep the feet on the ground, but never the heart. For the world of Marg is a high-flown existence of administration, sympathy, hilarity, intelligence, understanding; a whirl of fluctuating circumstances ordered with surprising clarity by faith in first principles, governed with dynamic love by the wisdom of the first lady.

AURORA R. BELMONT

Biology

Once upon a time there came to us a girl with a pure heart and a jolly laugh. There was not a day without the touch of Aurie's happiness spreading through the kingdom like a bright wink of sunlight. She gave love, and love she received . . . and she will live so happily ever after.

ALICE ELISABETH CHASE

Biology

The sedate dignity of Allie becomes fascinating when she is viewed as singer and dancer of Hattie fame, for through the medium of the chorus she poured out the gaiety, joy and rhythm of her lovingly animated heart. It is through her reliability and understanding, however, that we love to think of Allie, and to remember her as friend.

ROSE MARY ELIZABETH COLLINS

Biology

While others dream of the impossible, Rose Mary accomplishes it with Aladdin-like ease. She rubs the lamp of her irrepressible mirth and somber gray takes on the green of laughter. But the magic that is Rose Mary is best told in a thousand and one tales of intuitive kindness and loyalty.

CARYL MARY CORBETTA

Mathematics

Caryl's unselfishness is neither mere whim nor affected pose, for an open heart is readily accessible to all, whether a ride or a committee chore is desired. With a gaiety never nonsensical and an optimism ushered by common sense, we present sunny Caryl, a panacea for any trouble at all.

DOROTHY CLAIRE COSTELLO

Mathematics

It would be easier to make charm tangible than to analyze the elusiveness of Dot. Like the wee ones, she works under the cloak of silence, but her acts mirror the height of her ideals. Those who know the glow of Dot's laughter marvel at the intensity of the love burning in her heart.

ANNE CAROL CRAPSER

Biology

A mirror on the wall could best reflect the well-ordered tranquillity of Anne with shyness. The neat, bright phantasm in the frame would loyally portray femininity and characteristics constantly deepening and strengthening the image. And so reflections on Anne reveal a sweetly interested personality, a generous loyalty, a calming force.

JANE CLARKSON DAVIDSON

Biology

Janie hums along with her version of life: melody perfected by harmony of compassion and comic relief. To keep always before her the wonder of the composition in every detail is the thrill of her idealistic realism, for Janie's song is forever a joyous one, and she sings it for all to hear.

MARY ANN EBELING

Chemistry

A merry optimist is M.A., whose happy-go-lucky air is only rivaled by her keen insight into intellectual problems. Mary Ann's scholastic success lies in her ability to concentrate all her attention to the task at hand. We will remember her willingness to help others and the inimitable lilt of her Missouri accent.

MARY ELEANOR GANNON

Mathematics

The little girl wonder of Ellie enhances rather than contradicts the genuineness of her gracious maturity. A blending of two such strains enables her to carry through this problem of living with gentle competence and credulous enthusiasm, and unfailingly relegates her mathematical and agricultural interests to their proper niches in her overpowering sense of values.

JANET MARIE HAMMOND

Biology

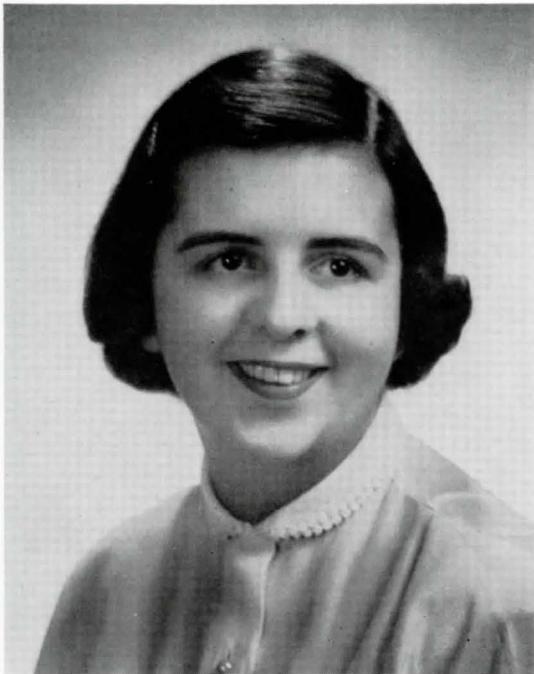

'52 made room for charm when in Junior year it happily enveloped Janet. So complete has been the union that we immediately respond to her social graciousness and innate feeling for the comedy in the situation. In just two years, we have learned to remember the upstate accent, and grown to love the poised scientist with the overflowing heart.

JOAN MARIE HEMBROOKE

Mathematics

Joan's determination to overcome obstacles ranges from solving intricate math problems to untangling bobbins for an eager argyle maker. But it is in the realm of little things that her maternal nature excels. Her laughter and sincere desire to aid others has not gone unnoticed, nor the depth and intensity of her spiritual fervor.

JOAN MARIE HENNESSEY

Mathematics

Tradition is as deeply rooted in Joan as her Vermont background, and the two complement one another to form a staunch believer in lasting things. Joan knows what to value and we have reciprocated by treasuring her capable leadership, her persevering loyalty and her peace of heart, the result of loving wholeheartedly.

FLORENCE MARIE HORGAN

Mathematics

This is the many-sided prism, diffusing all in life that is living. In her the blue glow of intellect burns brilliantly, the electric yellow of humor flashes constantly, the vibrant green of hope sparks steadily. But it is the red flame of Love which fires the rest and which is the essence of Florence.

ELINOR ANN JOYCE

Mathematics

A frown when she's serious, a twinkle when she's not, and high marks and a host of friends prove that in her unassuming way, Ellie has found the perfect balance for her moods. A mathematical crispness, an intangible softness: these are the happenings in a story-book life where all the good things come true.

JEAN FRANCES KELLY

Biology

Gently Jean spreads the pure air of simplicity. She walks among us like a refreshing hint of other times, bringing a special Dresden beauty, a shy oldfashioned sweetness, a quiet charm, and kindness. Only the loveliest things in life are bequeathed to Jean for she was made to enjoy them.

JOAN KELSO

Biology

Here is the diminutive lady with the big eyes whose love of the beautiful has found satisfaction in interests that run the gamut from Biology to Beethoven. A mischievous smile and a "Let's be daring!" are part of Joan, but far more important is her rare ability to find greatest happiness in the quiet moments.

MARCIA WENTWORTH KIMBALL

Chemistry

In Marcia, we have the vital personification of dreams of American Catholic youth, softened by the theme of summer song; a personification which unites science, sports, music, liturgy, and emphatically opposes the individualism and secularism of our days. Marcia has been an indispensable third in her choir, an indispensable first in our all.

CLAIRES LEBEL

Biology

Claire, knowing so well the contagion of exhilaration and color, takes to her own vivacious heart all who show these symptoms, to thrill, laugh, rejoice with them. But because she knows intimately the art of giving, she has understood the other moments, when troubled air must be blended, and she has offered freely her compassionate heart.

ELEANOR GERTRUDE LYNCH

Chemistry

El's unperturbed leadership changes chaos to order, for she is the conscientious arranger, the gay harbinger of peace. Her Bay State background is reflected in the execution of her trials and pleasantries as Annals' Business Manager, and in her tidy, comforting cosiness. Here is a homespun nature with an efficient flair.

DOROTHY FRANCES McDERMOTT
Mathematics

Unperturbed about the trifles, she has an ardent enthusiasm for the largeness of living, for in Dossy, CNR and '52 have gained a lover of humor, the athletic things, and the song of truth. A woman who will think clearly and vitally and who will preserve the vibrance of youth as she matures: this is Dossy.

MARY FRANCES MALONEY
Mathematics

The charm of "Peach" is soft-spoken artiness, diminutive vitality, shy cleverness, but its source is deeper. It rests in simplicity of taste, trust in her neighbor and Creator, charity of a genuine variety. A starched cleanliness and ready friendliness cling to this child of the solemnly merry brown eyes, as she goes her way with love and laughter.

AUDREY CLAIRE MARCOTTE

Biology

Aud is a springy package of frisky activity, short on melancholy, long on joy, and its real meaning. Here is a meticulous lady, neat enough for framing, yet too animated for the process. To turn from the concentrated elements of science to the diffusive media of delight shows an astonishing aptitude for the humanistic spirit!

ANNE MITCHELL

Mathematics

The blithe spirit is doubly welcome in a neurotic world. Anne, the imperturbable, solves a trig problem, makes a six no-trump bid, and hostesses an impromptu Sunday evening get-together with the same effortless ease, never ruffling a hair on her perfectly groomed head. With a "never trouble trouble" attitude, she is completely relaxed and relaxing.

MARGARET MARY MORRISON

Chemistry

Marg is '52's perpetual answer to: "Upon whom can we depend?" She has given of her mind: Lyrics for any occasion? Taller interview? Alpha Alpha? Fourragere? She has given of her heart: Family Life Commission? Cana Notes? A friend dependable, sincere, and true? Marg.

KATHLEEN MARY O'CONNELL

Mathematics

Kay, whose every step traces reason, its Virgilian guide, has shown us that in all things there is a place for caring, for daring, for sharing. Her angelic countenance, now engraved in our hearts, reminds us that Kay is New Rochelle's Hummel figurine turned to life, and so ultimately, to Life.

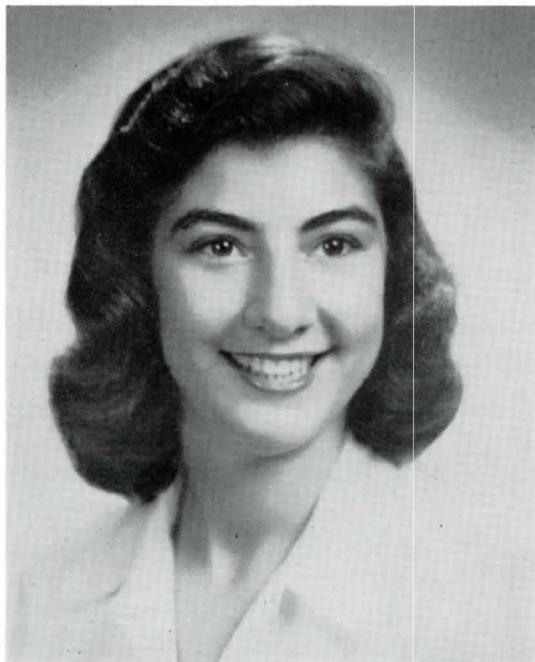

PATRICIA NANCY O'NEIL

Biology

Once she capered to our delight as bouncing Bobby in the show; offstage, she made the piano her plaything, her laughter, our entertainment. Pat, as fourragere holder, devotee of the arts, friend, has taught the gay, true, meaning of love. We will remember the inspired listener who will make the world dance to jigtime.

LOUISE ANN ORTO

Biology

To keep apace with Lou's boundless energy requires agility of mind and foot. As president of Theta Sigma and wearer of the blue tassel she has never been satisfied with fulfilling duties but, with Love as her impetus, has foreseen our needs, understood our problems and proven herself a warm and generous friend.

AUDREY ROBERTS

Mathematics

We will remember Audrey's love of music, her contralto voice and bursts of song. We will remember, too, that while her major field of concentration is mathematics, her major field of interest will always be people. Tutoring, Girl Scouting, camp counselling, playground work—all these and more reveal a dedicated spirit.

ANNE MARIE SHEA

Mathematics

An aura of quiet blends with continuous humor to form Anne's individual charm. Her sugar and spice composition amazes all with the seriousness and perseverance underlying her happy attitude. To Scribblers and to '52, Anne has brought the wealth of her interests and the clarity of her vision.

VIRGINIA MARIE SLOYAN

Mathematics

Humbly exalted, she has been personal friend to each of us. That this principle of tender charity in practice has intimately known love, is shown by the personal element in the myriad unknown tasks of high office. We wisely chose our best for representative and model, and Virginia's reign of calmly thoughtful intensity has been the highest fruition.

JUNE MARIE SWANTKO

Chemistry

Practicality and common sense are given life and dash by June's gaiety, for while making every moment count, she never loses sight of the happy way. By trodding the path of serenity, June manages to take along with her a legion of tranquilized friends, all lighted by a happiness only she can diffuse.

M. THERESA SWORDS

Biology

It is only as it should be that our constant nymph has an abiding interest in the microscopic world; and it is evident that Teri's stature cannot be measured in inches. For the combination of a molecule of mischief, an element of effervescence, in this case, results in a personality whose essence is love that is universal.

ANNE MARIE WEILER

Mathematics

The deeply quiet moments and the amazingly hilarious ones introduced us to pert and pithy Anne. Her tininess is to be depended upon for the wealthiest of kind natures, for fun with the angelic touch. This is Anne, refreshing as individualism, unexpected as the first wild flower in March.

NATALIE WOODS

Chemistry

Natalie's sweet and quiet overtones highlight a merry heart and a warm nature. With the gentleness, patience, and deep understanding of a woman, she spreads a comfortable joy wherever she goes. Delicate in movement, and tenderly expressive, Natalie's kindness and sympathetic manner endear and delight.

BETTY ANN WYMB

Chemistry

How often we have thought that she was completely lost to the conversation, only to have one of her matchless remarks awaken us to the fact that she was one thought ahead of us all the time! A paradoxical combination of womanly maturity and little-girl naivete, Betty Ann's personality is one of delightful surprises.

The formidable advanced inorganic chemistry transports its students deep within the ordinary structure to surer knowledge and a different outlook.

Theta Sigma, the science club, helps unite the findings of the natural order, integrates each field, and directs all to the Author.

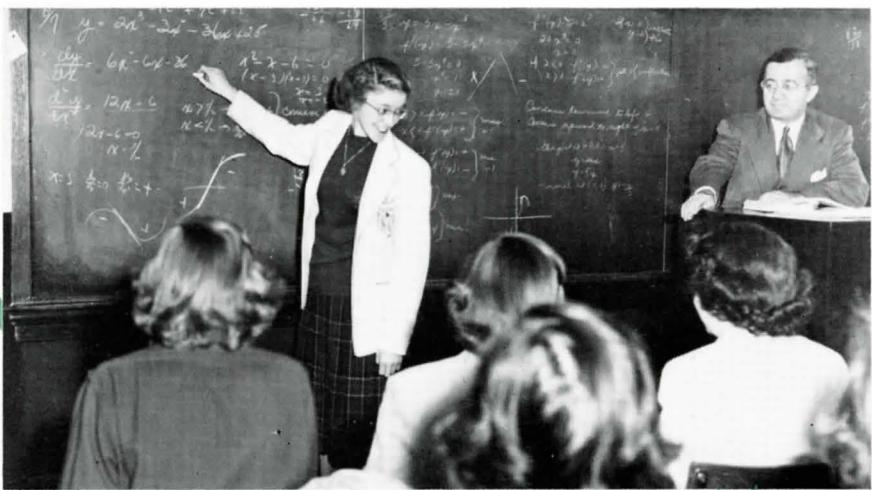

THE microscopic interests of science grow in magnitude in direct proportion to the realization that this is the description of life itself.

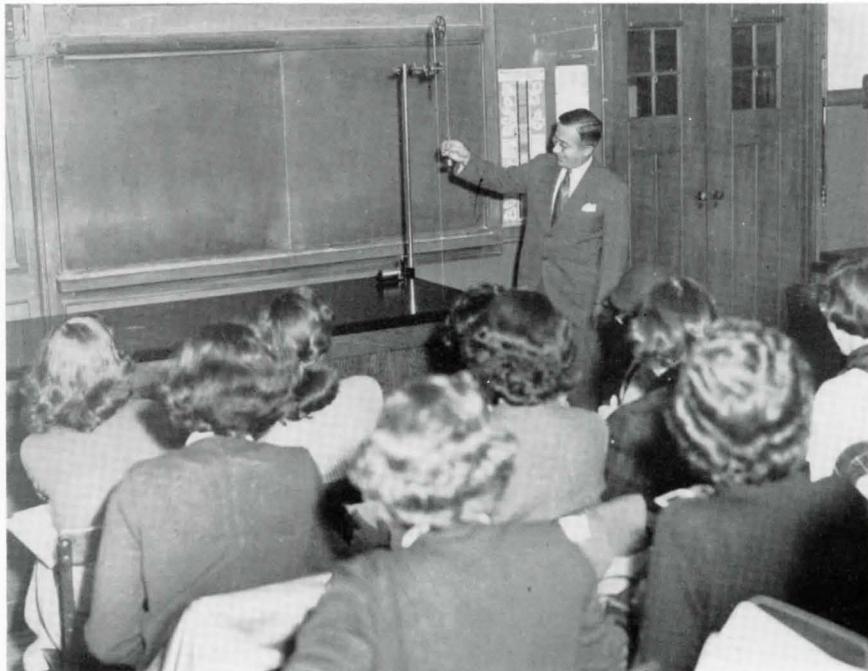

For those who persevere in their quest for the various answers to the puzzling laws of the universe advanced physics poses more varied questions.

THE precision of mathematics can escape the classroom and emerge into the necessary intangibles of law, order, accuracy and permanence when they prescind from interest and determination.

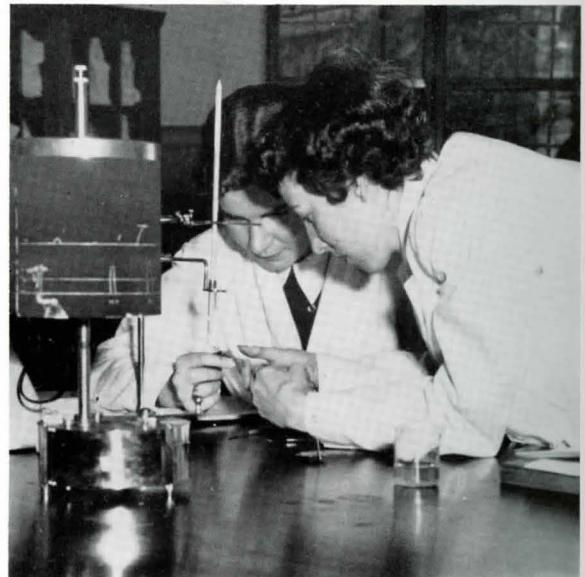

The thrill involved in the grasping of the elusive intricacy of calculus is not merely speculative, but practical in that this method is the key to many forms of industry.

The myriad laws governing bodies are the tools of the physicists who soon surpass the memorization of formulae to attain the practical end.

Frogs find themselves in an unhappy state within the realm of physiology, but the outcome of their sacrifice is a truer knowledge of vital organs.

THE extension of science into its many forms and provinces is food for impressions, and we see in its intricacies the overall value of its certain and necessary tenets.

Blood chemistry introduces the fascinating action of the vital stream, its components and functions, so very close to life itself.

After botany opens up to us the structure of a flower or a tree, knowledge and scientific understanding achieve a particular enjoyment and appreciation.

The actions and reactions of all that is living are avidly followed with scientific apparatus and the diligence of the intellect by biology students.

C

ONCENTRATION upon physical progress perfects, in its own sphere, the whole man and superimposes an element of enjoyment upon growth and skill.

Basketball, field hockey and volleyball emphasize team play and cooperation; for the thrill of the game is a prelude to the attained ability of harmony in all relations.

The hidden value of acrobatics, such as tumbling, often remains unobtrusive until the ultimate fluidity of physical grace is miraculously won.

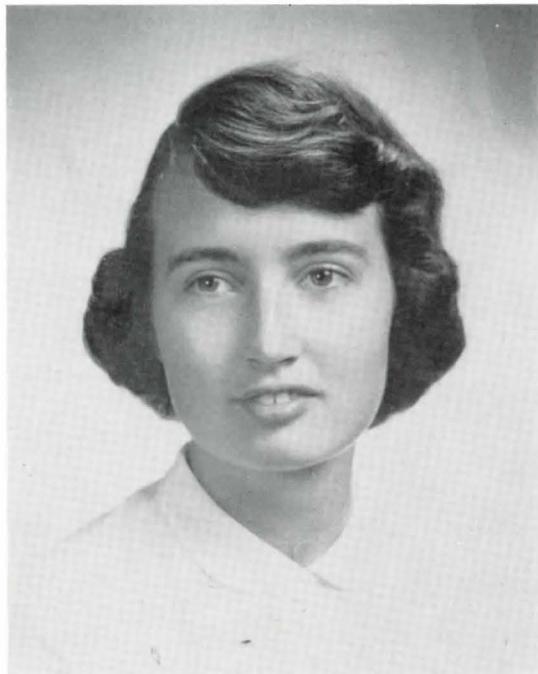

NITING to the gold a verdant hue
Of hope, the woman seeks society,
Proclaiming in her emerald streak the spring
Of Christ-life in the modern West. In Him
She sees the first among man's brotherhood,
The leader of a family life for all.

PATRICIA ANNE AHEARN

Social Sciences

The ability to accomplish tremendous tasks without comment or complaint and the willingness always to assume responsibilities may account for part of Pat's success on the Advisory Board, the Committee for Intercollegiate Coordination, and in organizing our Laurel Chain. Hers has been the gift of leadership with a facility born of Faith.

MARGARET ALBERTI

History

From classwork to crossword puzzles, Meg enjoys and excels in everything she does. Her creative ability has made its impression on many campus activities, including the Advisory Board and the Junior Show. History and literature fascinate Meg, whose interest in the world problems and their outcome is just as intense as her warm hearted gaiety.

ELIZABETH BORDEN

Sociology

A world painted emerald green would enrapture this tiny lover of the shamrock. Similar oddities would find a vigilant crusader in Betty, for no conservative is she. A sprite with a love of happiness, she owns the maturity necessary to find the combination to this precious gift.

GRACE BRENNAN

Psychology

Whimsy seen through a reserve of strong principles, this is a small part of the charm of Grace. Possessed of intense vivacity, armed with an impenetrable determination founded logically and constantly upon sound intelligent thinking, she drives toward the positive with an overwhelming rush of staunchest belief supplied by the true.

HELEN BRENNAN

Economics

Her questions arising, her opinions expressed, her work systematically done counterbalance the mellow "hello," the friendly conversation, the poised assurance. Inclined to view things with a serious eye, the personality of Helen is one of a deep thought, introduced with a chuckle; a wealth of advice, prefaced by kindness.

TERESA MARY BYRNE

Social Sciences

A spark of kinetic energy in the Junior Show was Terry, and with assurance we followed the leadership of her blue tassel. The impression she has made is a deep and lasting indentation of dependability, while she has filled us with wonder and a deep delight at her understanding love, her loyalty.

MARIE GLORIA CALDERAZZO

Psychology

Glimpses of a shy fancy are caught in the sweet personality of Marie. Through her gracefulness shines a warm-hearted kindness, a delicate appreciation of spiritual beauty, and always the wonder of the innocent of heart. These are the gentle strings with which she draws us to herself.

ANN CAHILL

Social Sciences

Because of her ignorance of smallness, individual charity lights the whole of Ann's generous personality. Through her kindnesses, the children of Blauvelt and Blessed Sacrament have glimpsed undreamed of happy endings to Catechism, Christmas and life stories, just as we have known delight and the glow of goodness through her humorous sympathy.

JANE PATRICIA CAREW

Psychology

The perfect hostess, amused and amusing; the eager Glee Club member, appreciated and appreciating; the interested friend, loyal and sincere: these are the lovely parts of Pat which make her dear to us today. The Sodalist, fulfilling her obligations faithfully, imbuing all with inner goodness, owns the fascinating qualities which we will recall tomorrow.

CLAIRE CAROLAN

Social Sciences

The American girl with her fresh appeal of wholesomeness and integrity is found quite perfectly in Claire. Her athletic ability and her happy moods further a picture of the collegian without disillusion or haphazard standards, a girl who has complemented work and play with a proficiency we sincerely admire.

MARIANNE ALICIA CARRIG

Economics

The lady that is Marianne is serene and feminine: yet, like a breeze lifting the leaves and turning them, she laughs, and suddenly the lady is a schoolgirl. Her constant unaffectedness has shown through both roles and will give us a sweetly charming, disarmingly simple memory of Marianne.

GIOIA ANNE CARUSONE

Economics

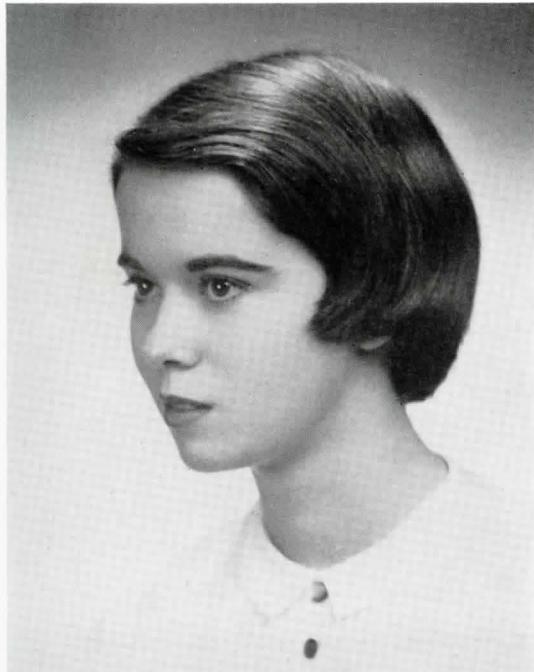

Gioia's appeal is delicately Victorian, but not one of mere tintype or painted cameo. Gracefully, with sympathy and charm, and a lovely light of loyalty, her candle of friendship burns. The gentle warmth of such a personality leaves no room for chill for here summer will always sing.

BARBARA CLAIRE CLEMENS

History

One secret of success is constancy of purpose; to attain it there is no surety like frankness, limitless determination and individualism. This is our criterion of belief that Barb will be outstanding in the field of her choice, for these traits are overwhelmingly hers, strengthened by truth, softened by kindness.

CATHLEEN CONNELLY

History

Touches of Old World sweetness and modern chic find in Cathleen a charming setting. Love of the arts and the arty, a deep appreciation of contemporary culture have given a serenity all her own. Intriguing all by her grace and understanding, Cathleen has truly found her niche in our affections.

JEAN CONNERS

Economics

A glimpse of Jean reveals the energy of charity unfolding in auburn, the earnestness of achievement stretching from Westchester to the mission field afar. A willing hand that follows intelligence and love, makes beauty practical, knowledge delightful, humor good-natured, and provides the generosity that solves all problems.

MAUREEN PAULA COSTELLO

History

Knowing Maureen is reading an adventure story, where each page thrives upon the unexpected: sparks and vivacity in the light times, seriousness and steadfastness in the deep, a true tone of selflessness in every episode. And like all adventures, Maureen's inevitably leads to discovery of deeper things, for Irish hearts and generosity are always made of gold.

JANIE BEATRICE CRAWFORD

Social Sciences

The treasurer of the class is indeed a valuable woman, but Janie gathered her pricelessness from spiritual wealth. This resource lays the foundation for all her other work. Thoughtful without being obtrusive, kind without being overbearing, she has balanced the art of giving with the art of living.

JOAN ILENE CRAWFORD

Social Sciences

She is the Oswego pride, the Irish sparkler, always the most sympathetic, the most interested. For four years, Joanie has taught us her personally radiant theory of aliveness, and for as long as remembers last, we shall recall the brilliant personality, the sweetest sincerity, the lovely holiness of Joan.

ANNE CAROLE CRISCI

Social Sciences

A fascinating frown, a curious smile, a streak of impetuosity, and Anne is ready to contribute the different solution, the unique answer. Positive and ardent about her attitudes and opinions, balanced with tolerant hilarity in view of the radical, she will forever be a revolutionary in the best and most constructive sense.

KATHERINE T. CUMMINGS

Psychology

We all dream of possessing the qualities which are inherent in our Kay. Poised, gracious and self-contained, she is a lady and a leader in the wealthiest sense. Kay's personality is integrated into a beautiful whole by her unfailing charity and humility, by her welcome appreciation of all effort.

ELIZABETH MARY DACEY

Economics

Unostentatiously generous, whether it be with her time or with just a bag of food from the Ville, she occupies a place of honor in the memories and hearts of her friends. We are amazed by the keen business sense, delighted by the sincerity, convulsed by the dry tone of the wit, enriched because we love Dace.

ANN MARIE DEL BELLO

Psychology

Vivid and ruby-like, Ann has encircled her friends with the fire of Love. Because of her optimism, her wealth of common sense, our troubles vanish smokeward, and in spite of ourselves we are warmed by her laughter. All her tomorrows will be kindled by the glow of her light heart.

HELENANNE DONOVAN

Sociology

Tiny Gus, of the serious discussions, adult mind, sedate movements and actions has provided prescriptions for more than physical ills. Her interesting tales have shown a sweet concern for the most minute details. Solemn but very social in sympathetic ways is Gus, who can never let a friend escape happiness, nor a trouble elude solution.

VERA MARIE FARMER

Social Sciences

Living is always Christmas Eve for Ronnie, who tracks life down with a fervor as unquenchable as it is unpredictable. Swimming, The Student Prince, field hockey, foreign affairs and people are her fortés. Never the dilettante, Ronnie is the diffusively joyous Christian whose joie de vivre is rooted in eternal values.

ELIZABETH ANN FARRELL

Social Sciences

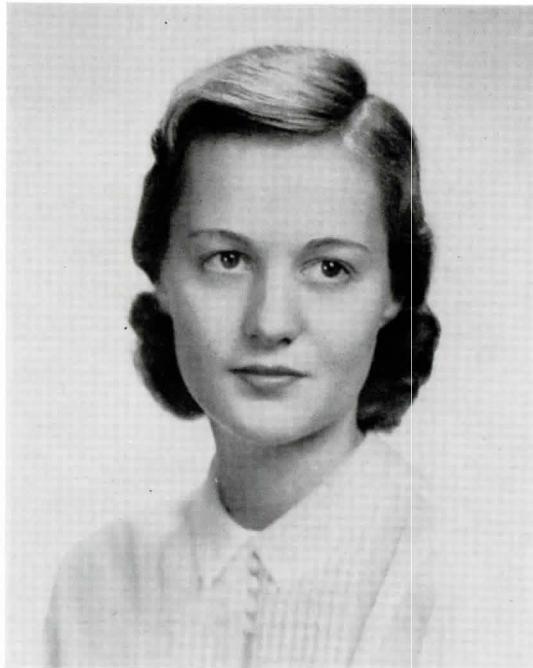

Our Christian Tom Sawyer is a haven where all the thunder and lightning of worldly existence are happily white-washed away. With a comfortable adaptability, she casually fits into the prevailing mood without sacrificing her individuality. Effortlessly she cartwheels over the fence of temporal things, changing the drab to sunny yellow with gaiety and goodness.

MARY LOUISE FLEIG

Economics

Mary Lou's warm brown eyes are a delightful introduction to friendship with their fun loving owner, a friendship which reveals her basic serenity of spirit and complete capability, whether she is building sets in Chidwick or distributing Quarterlies on the eve of the inevitable deadline. Needless to say, all deadlines are made, through the very good humor of our dependable Mary Lou.

JACQUELINE FRANCISCUS

Psychology

Little things done well are the true media of a woman. Jacky works quietly and completely, an exterior finesse springing from her sense of the practical and her desires for the future. Here is her measure of success consistently tempered with inimitable tip to toe laughter.

JOAN ELIZABETH GAFNEY

History

Joanie leads the passing parade with a knowing way and a laughing heart. Intent upon no-trump or helpfulness, the dynamic personality perseveres on the lighter side, for the mind of astounding varieties of knowledge always finds time for comedy, and the down-to-earth flights of fancy are a fascinating part of what we love in Joan.

GRACEMARIE A. GENTILESCO

History

Gracemarie's humor is the ready wit and the apt phrase that can describe any situation. Her sympathy is a quick intuitive response to the problems of others, expressed by a buoyant good nature that can remedy sorrow or lessen difficulty. These are Gracemarie's possessions and they insure her happiness and success in all her undertakings.

VIRGINIA ANNE GORMAN

Economics

As quietly as she goes about her work, Ginny steals into hearts; her hold there is as tenacious as her appearance is fragile. Her open and modern mind has applied constant principles to the changing things. To see only the good in everyone is Ginny's wonderful specialness.

MARGARET MARY GORRY

Psychology

Never a procrastinator but a careful student is Peggy, unhurriedly accomplishing every task in her own perfecting way. Her wit is a boon to any gathering, and her malapropisms unforgettable. Satisfyingly stable but excitingly changeable, Peggy has been a joy to know and a promise to remember.

MARGARET HANLEY

Psychology

Gubby needs many definitions: the madcap of the weekend joy and the madder whims; Gubby of the wisdom and sense of fair play that mirrors a New England heritage; the special dash of homey sophistification heightened by the subtlest commentary, hallowed by the loyalty of friendship. This is Gubby, master of anything at all.

MARGARET THERESE HARTIGAN

Social Sciences

Pranks of a benevolent nature have been the constant echo of the day-hop room at the inspiration of CNR's exponent of the Bronx, the Irish, and "New York's finest." Operator of an inimitable sense of humor, and the generosity to govern it, Peggy will always let the rain clouds roll by!

PAULINE ANN HOLMAN

Social Sciences

Underneath the steadiness of Pauline, there are amazing supplies of hilarious fun to punctuate dullness with comic relief. An easy-going humor of the kindly, practical-joke variety carries with it full solemnity and bursts of good will at the right moments, and tells us of the dearness of laughter, the dearness of Pauline.

ANNE HULSEBOSCH

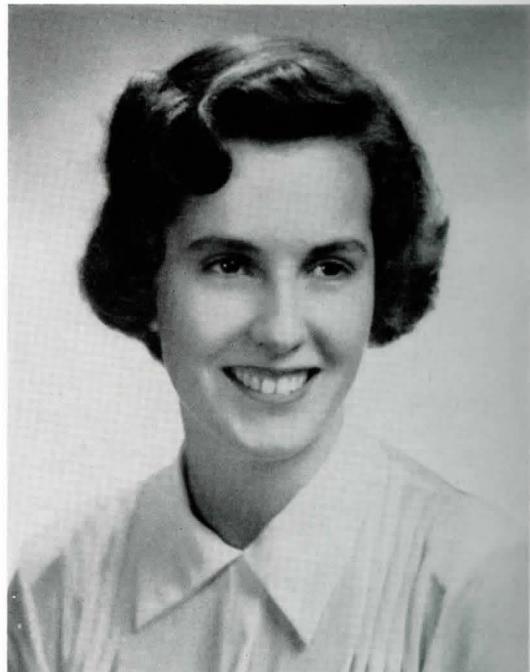

Psychology

Winsome, witty and wise is our Anne. Her cryptic retorts often belie her earnestness, but the key to her personality is the constant "hello." Operator of boundless energy, Anne is a thespian, chorister, and business woman, but her numerous abilities enable her to expertly manage the myriad tasks with a particular efficiency.

MARIE THERESE KARL

Sociology

The softness of an inside exuberance, the willingness to share in, to share with, we have known and admired in Marie. The paragon of know-how without affectation, graciousness without sophistication has taught that ladies will laugh, that ladies will sigh, that gaiety is only so when mixed and colored with love and charity.

CLAIRES KENNY

Social Sciences

There are some people for whom no task is too great to perform, others for whom none is too small, and Claire is the petite colossus who masterfully strides the two poles. Athletic and feminine, loving and glowing, she captained our teams and with her very warm nature and our very hearty approval, captured our hearts.

PATRICIA ANN KNIGHT

History

The personality of Pat is never arty, but so kindly artistic, for it has to do with the true talents of child-like loveliness, and womanly warmheartedness, with soft spoken words and vigorous sincerity. To know the girl with the happiest of all laughs opens the heart immediately and forces us out of ourselves to better things.

MARY AGNES LALLY

Social Sciences

As dreamy as stardust, as practical as domesticity is our Mally, who is loved more for the wisps of enchanted vagueness than for the unique common sense. The trials of practicality are somehow overcome with efficient fancy, leaving Mally free for other things: to mother, delight, instruct, to be loved and trusted ultimately by uncounted friends.

RAMONA LECLAIRE

Psychology

Luck and laughter are the playthings of our gay girl. In the midst of black-and-white she provides a vivid touch of a technicolor whirl, as she invites us to be spectators at a pageant of all things social. Mona, a so generous spark, is a festive beam, a holiday spirit in a workaday world.

PHYLLIS AUDRE McCULLOUGH

History

Phyll is a dancer of purpose, carefully executing a pantomime of meaningful gestures. She has led the League of the Sacred Heart with power rooted in love, and she has shown us all the rhythm and harmony of a life ordered by charity, the center of all virtues.

MARY MARGARET McGOVERN

Economics

Loving and loved, that's Mary. A dash of whimsy sprinkled into a wide depth of sincerity; a sympathetic nature that epitomizes complete femininity; a lilt in her laughter that recalls many St. Patrick's days: these are the units of a truly gay nature; these are the magnets of a sincerely loving nature.

MARY ELIZABETH MADDEN

Economics

Selflessness tells the story of Betty. Everyone's very good friend gives a little extra something to everything in which she comes in contact. Gifted with sweet loyalty, true sincerity, as one of God's finest, she is an inspiration to anyone who wants to live, laugh, fight a little, and win.

MARY LORRAINE MALISON

Psychology

She is the girl with the fantastic gift of using the wrong word at the right time with always the kind result, a lovably abstract bit of uncommonly good sense. To evoke laughter, to live in wide-eyed happiness is her forte. Lorna, soft as the pink cloud she usually trods is in spite of herself, competence.

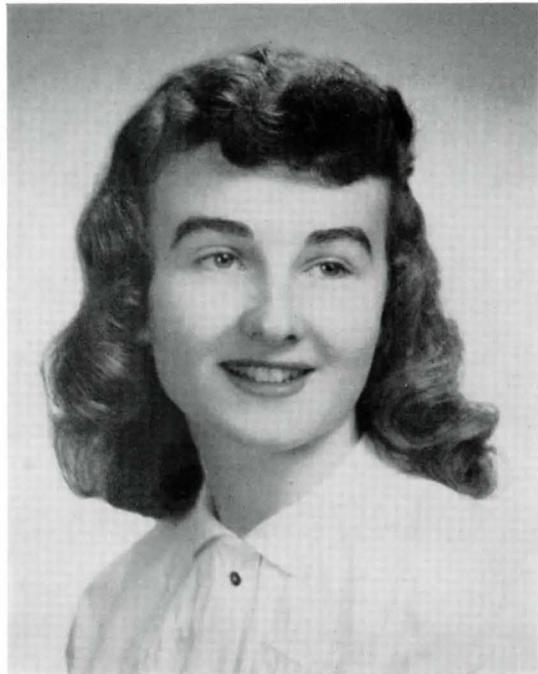

PATRICIA ANN MALONEY

Psychology

Despite her princess charm, this is neither fragile porcelain doll, nor enchanted child. Patsy is a miniature of femininity with the graciousness of the aristocratic and the simplicity of the sincere. Sweet but spicy enough to be refreshing, her delicacy is animated by fascinating delight, softened by a certain grace.

MARY JANE MANNING

Social Sciences

The beauty Mary Jane has seen is the ice-blue clarity of truth, for her perceptive mind is efficiently attuned to sheer reality. The beauty M.J. has given is the rosy warmth of a thoughtful spirit, culminating in her generosity and interested love for her friends.

DONNA MATTHEWS

History

One need not be a linguist to see that Donna is truly a lady; nor a psychiatrist to understand this poised, pert, popular perfectionist. For perfection is Donna's steadfast goal, and as we watch her with textbook or hockey stick or evening gloves we see that it is a goal attained, a goal shared.

PATRICIA JOAN MEAD

Economics

The sensible head on Pat's shoulders is capable of all the happy smiles in the world, and through them we have known the relief of efficiency, the charm of poise, the assurance of coolness in any situation. Ultimately, the smiles have shared the essence of understanding, that wonderful quality through which we best know Pat.

JANE MARIE MENNIS

Sociology

Gentle of speech and beneficent of mind,
her eyes are the mirror of her thoughts, her words and works the outcome of their depth;
This is Jane, nicely natural and naturally nice, with a merry heart that gives a cheerful countenance and a smile that goes a long, long way.

MADELON MICHELL MEYER

History

Mal has kept us practical and realistic when the very necessities of our lives seemed to be slipping away or when our ideals were founded on impossibilities. The knitting champion has depicted a style all her own through the radicalism of righteousness, but her friendship, rock on shifting sands, has been tried and has endured.

HELENE MARIE MOORE

Psychology

Because she has accepted the varied responsibilities and patiences of maturity, Helene's heart is stamped with the true dignity of woman. Yet, because vivacity cannot exclude the exuberance and gaiety of youth, Helene's spontaneity springs from a child's heart. From the fusion of the two comes a tempered eagerness to listen, tell, comfort, explain, love.

DOROTHY MARY MORRIS

Psychology

Dotty is our raven haired princess with the dancing fingers. Her galaxy of arrangements reflect her varied moods and though they range from Arabesque to the Warsaw Concerto, they never fail to enchant us to relaxation, pleasure and delight. A holiday spirit surrounds her for art and friendship's sake.

ELLEN MARIE MURPHY

History

The town-and-country champion of tales incredible, is completely, basically, selfless Ellen. We have loved the constant good in her particular river of conversation; and so the laughter was not all for the pearls and puns of greater or lesser price included therein, but for pure joy of being loyal with her, being loyal to her.

ROSEMARY MURPHY

Social Sciences

Far beneath the inner-workings of a loving heart, Rosemary's particular charm is fashioned. Here her trueness begins its vague journey through concrete intangibles of loyalties and NSA, to the surface of the conversation where, with wonder and awe, a thought is born! Then, out of her very deep wisdom, Rosemary makes the kindest decision.

KATHLEEN ELIZABETH NEARY

History

Ken is as crisp and pert as her nickname, as sweet and careful as patience. Her funny little gestures are beguiling; her good taste is all-inclusive. No old-fashioned miss, she is modern "with a difference," and the difference is the accurate touchstone of her sound sense of values.

PATRICIA O'HARA

Psychology

With a rainbow touch of savoir faire, Pat seriously or otherwise flits from arbitrary canon to fantastic humor, as with apt description she delves into the humdrum and discovers the gleeful. The choice vocabulary does not include trouble, but thrives upon synonyms for joy of living, so that now, we too, have learned about laughter.

CAROLINE ELVIRA PAGNUCCO

History

To satisfy her preoccupation with perfection, Caroline, alive and curious, must pursue her Italian arts with fervor, her college work with constancy, her music with love. Caroline's life has been concerned with the openness of friendship, with maturing potential transcendence. We shall remember four particular years, and the depth and glory of her song.

HELEN REGINA PHELAN

Social Sciences

A fascinating blend of gravity and tomfoolery is Ginny, for her refreshing words delight us, while her serious moments of intense concentration never cease to inspire us. Ginny's talent for the journalistic is evidenced in her clever Tatler writing. Surely the stamp of success is indelibly upon her.

PATRICIA ANN PINI

Social Sciences

Pat is a very alive person, one of this life's "do-ers," with a love for spontaneity. Efficiency is not a calculated thing with her, but a habit colored with the vibrancy of enthusiasm, because she is ready to share in the art of giving. Still, fun is her forte, and she knows where to find it.

KATHRYN FRANCES ROESER

History

Kathy's smile reflects the attraction which happiness holds for the observer. Serenity, compassion, and understanding are there in a dynamic union. Tempered by efficiency, lighted by fun, ordered by superlative neatness, Kathy is equipped to give of a positive personality which in its essence, can never be a static thing.

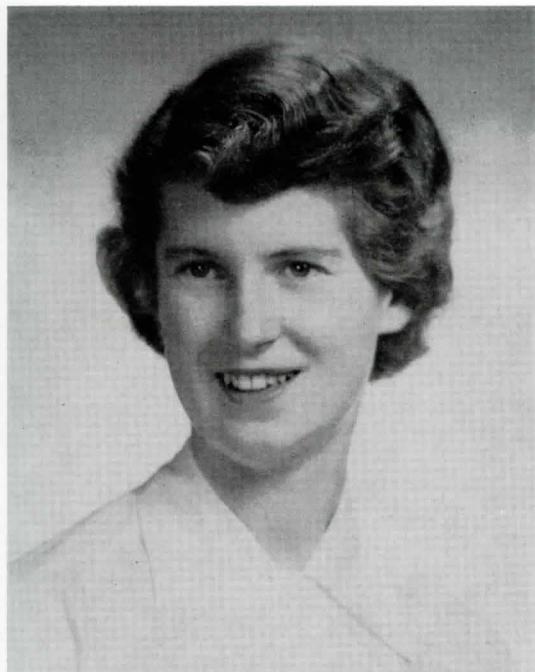

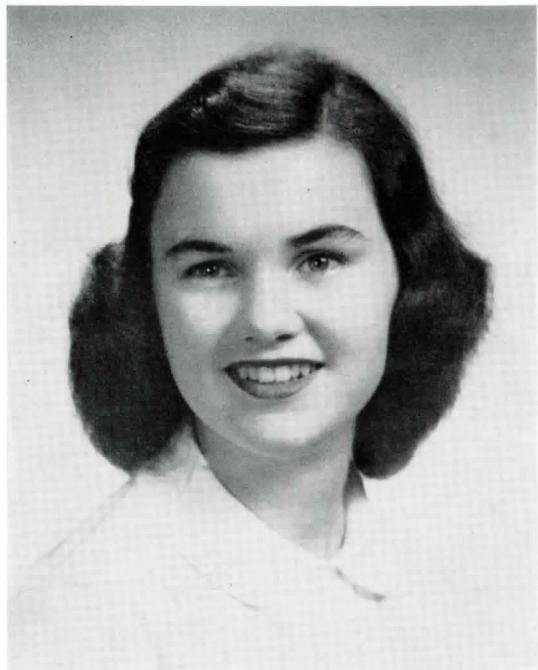

JANET ANN ROSS

History

Her smile as the cheeriest umbrella, Janet dons the perpetual shield of brightness and saunters forth to accost any rainy day happenings. In the tremendous and the tiny issues of existence we find her forever straightforward in approach. The sense of fair play may come from New England; we prefer to credit it to Janet.

SARAH MARIE RYAN

Sociology

For those who will look, there is a wonderland of color in the dullness of the everyday. Alice-like, Sally has looked, and through her thousand-and-one tales, we have gleaned unusual things: a pause for profundity, a picnic on a blue Monday, the thrill of love and laughter.

JOAN REGAN SASSEEN

History

The bright aura of Joan's smile reminds us of a perennial sunflower bred on its own peculiar brand of Sasseen sunshine. With limitless effort, Joan has proven herself the indispensable committee head, the sure leader. With effervescent harmony, she sings through life; with remembrance of things past, we will recall her refrain.

DIANE THERESE SCHMIDT

Economics

Poise is a graceful characteristic inevitably associated with Diane, for her savoir faire is an integral part of the lady. With diplomatic thoughtfulness she reveals a genuine regard for others, as inbred as her perception of the logical. This cosmopolite dazzles one first by her brilliance and lastingly by her dignity.

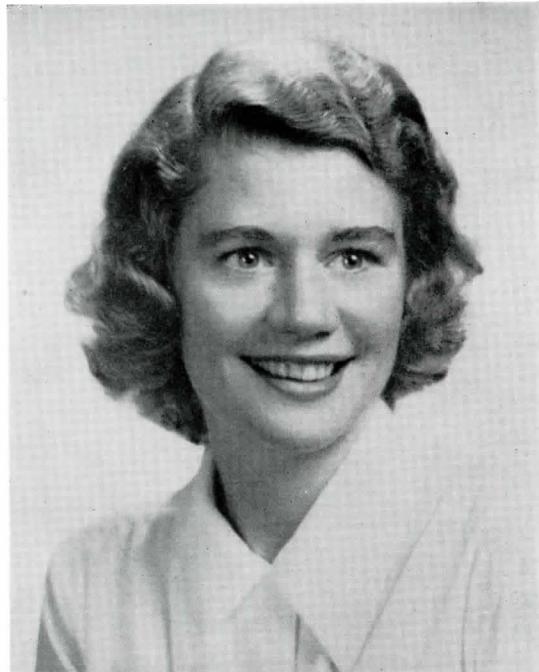

JEANNE MARIE SHEPARD

Psychology

The "new girl" of Junior year, in the shortest of times was warm-hearted Jeannie, a doll-like child, a serene woman. With love in every corner of her heart she is a friend to laugh with, to confide in, living the wisdom of her books and her understanding.

MARY BRENTON SHREVE

Social Sciences

Our loving diplomat, wise in ways of history and hearts, is a poised child, electric champion of many things. Knowledge of phenomenal proportions crowds her generous mind so that living and loving with her attains point and counterpoint of exciting harmony. In just such a way, we will remember the airy depth of Brenton as our constant Christmas spirit.

ELLIN M. SMITH

Economics

A positive personality which savors well the drollness of any situation is Ellin. Her inimitable familiarity with everything and everywhere leaves one startled. Her matchless way of lending a friendly heart and laughing cloudier things away will not leave one at all. Practical and witty, serious and gay, she's Ellin.

GEORGIA ANNE SMITH

History

Because she has been hospitality's handmaiden, Georgia has a welcoming smile and a warm open heart capable of defrosting the coldest of people. Her exploits reveal the hilarity of the cartoonist's world; her sympathy reveals a much more sweetly delicate virtue. It will be difficult to forget the many times she has regaled us with cheer and charity.

GAIL SULLIVAN

History

Imperceptibly during four years, the friendly girl deepened and assumed the graciousness of a woman, strengthening the cheer with poise, highlighting the willingness with an even greater degree of sincerity. The nature of Gail, always interested, always understanding, has lost none of its special vitality through growing up, but has only added fascination.

MARY LUCY SULLIVAN

Economics

A story is told in the unique Sullivan fashion and we remember the easy impetuosity of Mary Lu. No one has amused us more warmly, because of an effortless familiarity with good humor, and avid interest in charity. Heading the Girl Scout leaders on campus, she has trooped through college, unperturbedly absorbing and emitting the good things.

MADELEINE R. TANAHEY

Sociology

Madeleine has transformed the traditional three r's into something very particular and special. An artist, perhaps, could catch her regality of manner and bearing; her responsiveness to the thoughts of others is so evident in all situations. But it is her friends who are captured by that rare blend of realist and romanticist that is truly Maddy.

MARY ELIZABETH TORMEY

Psychology

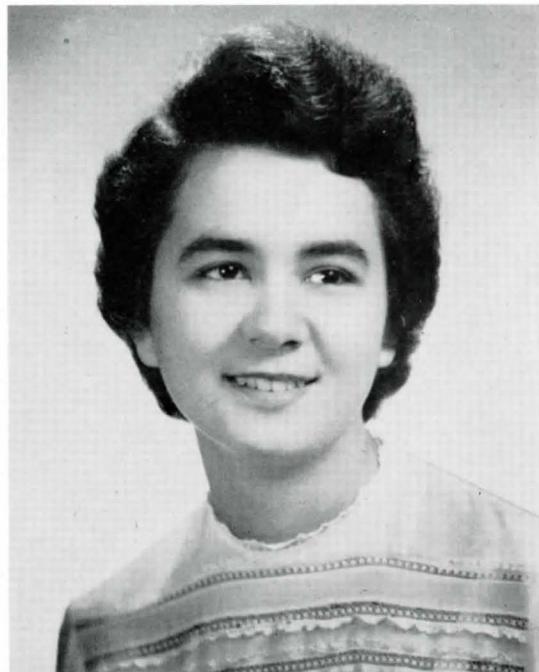

The essence of sweetness and a rainbow sparkle reach the depth of an ocean here, for the spontaneous rush of the fountain of her exuberance finds its force in a gently compassionate mother nature. We are drawn to this sincerity by the humming brightness, radiantly gay person of Marybeth.

BEATRICE TRINIDAD

Psychology

Closely allied are Beatrice's interests, the pulsating world of music and the rhythmic orb of France. As a Glee Club member and as our assembly pianist, she contributed harmony to C.N.R. As a Christian woman and finished linguist, she has power to spread the song of faith.

BETTY JANE TUCKER

Social Sciences

Poised and serene, the lovely lady with the enthusiasm has been vigilant A.B., the fire behind the spark of all class projects. The quiet of B.J. has welded us into compactness, has made our trials successful and surprising. Her charm was the leaven of our mass activity, but we will remember most, the smile.

UR outstanding members in fields of intellectual achievement and leadership are enrolled for posterity in Who's Who in American Colleges for all to marvel.

Isolationism is an antiquity as the International Relations Club becomes intrigued with modern world problems and cultures where every nation is neighbor.

T

HE social aspect, so basic in humanity, is the subject and object of CNR's international and national sociological interests.

The wonder of the psychology of children lies in the opening of a potential intellect under a tender guidance embodied, for example, in story-telling.

A speculative discussion and a practical field trip offers the young humanitarian the opportunity to bring love to the term Sociology.

The Advisory Board members, who have repaid trust with understanding, will be remembered as a positive guiding force for happiness in order.

ADMINISTRATION and authority, the heart of life, can be demonstrated in many institutions and ceremonies from which the student derives ultimate benefit.

The symbolism of academic dress is brought home to underclassmen through periodic Advisory Board inspections regarding snaps on dickies, ink on cap corners.

The wisest of Seniors and most bewildered of Freshmen find common ground within the satisfying, unplumbed depths of Lost and Found.

The turning of the tassel, CNR'S especially symbolic moving-up ceremony, recalls the beginnings and points up the heritage.

Because we are social beings, the National Federation of Catholic College Students was formed of a desire to unite in Catholicity with other communities in strength and love of purpose.

FEDERATION, whether within campus or branching out to coordinate other communities, stems from the fundamental social nature of man and unites students in living Christianity.

Through meetings, discussions and the edition of Cana Notes, this section of NFCCS learns to restore Family Life in Christ.

The province of the National Student Association lies in the coordinating of ideas and techniques in the Student Community, rights within authority.

The core of the presidents in action makes the Student Activities Council a study center wherein collegiate things are effectively promoted and coordinated.

The cordial custom of the annual Tea introduces the very grown-up Freshmen to the oldest of the College in an informal but traditional setting.

The concentrated activity of the Social Board most visibly manifests itself in the very alive, very fascinating business of the Saturday Social.

TRADITION old and new, contributes to the extra-curricular atmosphere and thus, in the spirit in which it is presented brings curricular things to socially Catholic fulfillment.

The lovely rite of the laurel is the joining of past and future things, the symbol of intangible memories, friendship.

The most brilliant of all, the honor students have maintained the position of scholar, not at the expense, but rather with the aid of a humanistic approach.

ENJOY BRECK TREATMENTS
AT YOUR BEAUTY SHOP

Breck Treatments help keep the hair and scalp in the best possible condition. Breck Treatments are helpful in correcting dry or oily hair and scalp conditions, as well as dandruff. A series of Breck Hair and Scalp Treatments is especially beneficial before and after a permanent. Breck Treatments leave the hair soft, lustrous, and easy to arrange.

"COORDINATION" . . . a word that can mean a lot to you, even more than it does to us. It embodies a principle upon which our success depends. It means the proper economy of money, materials, and time, but always bearing in mind the kind of a yearbook you wish to have produced and of which you will be proud. BJH&S learned to appreciate that principle a long time ago. It is for this reason that we have consistently advocated the coordination of all factors of yearbook production. We are indeed glad to have been selected to produce this year's book.
